GENERAL HAS HIS SAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers heatedly insisted today he had no plans to cash in on government contracts when he helped set up the Aviation Electric Co. in 1940 for "my girl friend." And he never got any money from the company except repayment of loans, he declared to the Senate War Investigating Committee.

The retired Air Force general testified yesterday he advanced several thousand dollars to Mrs Mildred Lamarre, his one-time secretary, and her husband to set up the Dayton, O., concern which later obtained more than $1,000,000 of aviation subcontracts.

Bleriot H. Lamarre, the husband and president of Aviation Electric, has testified the general got more than $150,000 from the profits on those contracts.

The Senate group is investigating Meyers' relations with war contractors. During the war, the general was deputy chief of Air Force procurement (purchasing).

LAMARRE WON'T TALK

Lamarre is 35 and his wife is younger. The 52-year-old general's story was that the husband acquiesced to his affair with Mrs. Lamarre.

Lamarre "told reporters who turned to him after the general's testimony that he could not comment, that he was "under instructions" to make no statement.

Chairman Ferguson (R.) of Michigan began today's session by asking Meyers for any records or documents to support Meyers claim $18,000 he acknowledged receiving from the company was repayment of a loan to the Lamarres.

The General replied a letter from Lamarre on last Sept. 27—after the Senate probe started—confirmed the $18,000 loan and repayment.

Ferguson said this letter was "self-serving." William Rogers, committee counsel, broke in to note that Lamarre testified this was a "phoney letter" which Meyers asked his former business associate to write.

DATA FOR TAX AGENTS

Rogers asked why the general was seeking written data about 1940-45 transactions in September 1947, after the company had been liquidated.

Meyers insisted the committee probe had "nothing to do with it whatsoever." He said treasury tax agents had asked him to supply the data.

Rogers then asked about earlier testimony by President Lawrence Bell of Bell Aircraft Corp., that Gen. Meyers had recommended Aviation Electric for a sub-contract from the Bell company.

Most of the company's business and profits came from Bell subcontracts.

Meyers said he would not dispute Bell's teestimony but added that other companies than Avia-

Eisenhower Post to Bradley, Carl Gray Named VA Chief

By ROBERT G. NIXON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (INS)—President Truman completed reorganization of the nation's armed forces today naming Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Veterans' Administrator, to succeed Gen. Eisenhower as chief of staff. Carl R. Gray, vice-president of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad, a wartime major general, was chosen as Bradley's successor in the Veterans Administration.

The chief executive's action in appointing Bradley to the top Army post climaxed a sweeping series of moves which began with designation of James V. Forrestal as the nation's first National Defense secretary.

Simultaneously with disclosure of the Bradley appointment, Mr. Truman announced that Maj.-Gen. Clifton B. Gates would be the new commandant of the Marine Corps.

VANDEGRIFT RETURNING

Gates, veteran of the Pacific campaigns, will succeed Gen. Alexander A. Vandegrift, who is retiring.

Last week, the President named Adm. Louis E. Denfield as successor to Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, who is retiring as chief of naval operations Dec. 1.

Bradley will take over as chief of staff when Eisenhower leaves the Army to become president of Columbia University. Eivenhower has indicated he will do this early next year.

However, the President said Bradley would leave his Veterans Administration post and return to Army duty Dec. 1.

Mr. Truman's announcement of the appointment of Gray, as Bradley's successor came as a surprise. Gray's name had not been included in the list of potential VA chiefs mentioned by Washington observers after it became apparent that Bradley would be named to replace Eisenhower.

BRILLIANT RECORD

The Chief Executive said that on Dec. 1 Bradley would begin a survey of the postwar army to familiarize himself with his new duties.

The 54-year-old Bradley had a brilliant combat record in World War II. He led troops from Tunisia to the heart of Germany and received the first unconditional surrender from a German general to an American commander.

Most of Bradley's military career has been spent as an infantry officer. From the front lines to the rear echelon he was respected not only for his command ability but because he showed deep and constant concern for his men.

Amvets Would Strip Meyers Of War Medals

Special to the Boston American

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—Immediate revocation of war service medals awarded Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers was demanded today by AMVETS, World War II veterans' organization.

AMVETS said retention of the medals by Meyers would constitute "a downright insult to countless other men who earned these decorations."

The General is being probed by the Senate war investigating committee on alleged profits reaped from war contracts while second top procurement officer for the Army Air Forces.

Edgar C. Corry, Jr., national commander of the veterans' organization, said the Meyers decoration open up the general question of awards to high-ranking officers.

Meyers, who served most of the war in Washington, was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal and the Legion of Merit. The General also was retired on a $461 monthly disability pension, Corry pointed out.

AMVETS want a re-examination of the pension grant, too.

"More than a few men who fought in World War II have gained the impression that the award of many medals to generals, admirals and high-ranking officers was largely a matter of politics," Corry said.

"Unless Meyers' medals are taken from him, it would appear their belief has largely been confirmed by the Army High Command."

U. S. IRON ORE OUTPUT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—The United States produced 84,194,481 tons of iron ore in 1946—21 per cent less than in 1945—and imported twice as much as it shipped to foreign countries, the Bureau of Mines said today.

LAWRENCE, Nov. 21 (AP)—A 43-year-old mill worker burned to death and four other persons—including a seven-months-old girl—were rescued early today in two separate fires.

Thomas Walker was found dead in the bathroom of his four-room tenement where he lived alone. He was apparently overcome while trying to flee.

Rescued from a fire at Merrimack Court, a federal housing project, were Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Leone, their baby daughter, Donna Ann, and Mrs. Leone's father, Thomas F. Cronin.

FRANKFURT, Germany, Nov. 21 (AP)—About 100,000 workers in Mannheim staged a one-hour strike today to protest what trade union leaders described as the city authorities' failure to provide the people with potatoes in amounts equaling the minimum set for the U. S. occupation zone.

Priest Shot, 20 Dead in Italy Leftist Riots

ROME, Nov. 21 (AP)—Peasants battled carabinieri today in the streets of Bitonto, near Bari, in a new outbreak of the violence which has taken a growing toll of lives throughout Italy in the past week.

The fight was touched off by an attack by an unidentified assailant upon a priest, Rev. Pasquale Pileo. The cleric, on his way to mass, was shot three times in the back. In subsequent fighting, two carabinieri were gravely wounded. Armed mobs ranged the streets.

Total dead in the recent epidemic of leftist-led disorders throughout all Italy was near 20.

Rome, meanwhile, was threatened with a one-hour cut-off of electrical power if wage demands of electrical workers were not met before nightfall.

Bacon, Eggs Rare Treat to Royal Couple

ROMSEY, Eng., Nov. 21 (AP)—Princess Elizabeth and Philip, her Prince, wed yesterday in the tradition of a thousand years of English pomp and circumstance, began the "ever after" days of their royal romance today with one of rationed Britain's rare treats—bacon and eggs for breakfast.

Outside their honeymoon retreat the day was almost spring-like, with soft breezes surprisingly rustling the foliage after a spell of cold.

From the time the oaken door of Broadlands, estate of Earl Mountbatten, closed on them late yesterday, the royal couple has been alone.

HAT FOUND ON CHAIR

Two girls, delivering wedding evening greetings from Romsey's townspeople, said they saw nothing of the couple. But Philip's Navy officer cap, they related, was tossed casually on a hallway chair.

Today the people of placid Romsey, a Hampshire market town a bit off the beaten paths of commerce, pursued their modest vocations with suppressed excitement over the prospective public appearance of the 21-year-old bride and her 26-year-old husband at Romsey Abbey religious services Sunday.

LONG CELEBRATION

Street sweepers plied their brooms against litter left by multitudes who came in rain and gloom to cheer the nervous maid as she drove to Westminster Abbey with her father, King George VI, and came away, smiling and waving, a wife with her handsome husband, Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, who was Lt. Philip Mountbatten, R. N.

Celebrants, clustered thickly around Buckingham Palace, lifted their voices till past midnight in unheeded pleas for one more bal-

Mother, 21, Acquitted by Jury On Charges of Baby Neglect

Mrs. Eleanor M. Kelley, 21, attractive brunette waitress, was found not guilty of neglect of her 2-year-old son, Robert, by a Suffolk Superior Court jury today. Tears welled to the eyes of the pretty young mother as the sealed verdict was read. But she brushed these aside and managed to flash a smile at the jury and was heard to sigh, "Thank God."

Eleanor's widowed mother, and her brother, Robert, who testified against her at the trial, left the courtroom without speaking to her.

When the courtroom had cleared Eleanor remained in conference with Asst. Dist. Atty. Joseph Sullivan, the prosecutor, and Miss Mary Powers, probation officer. Asked if she was going at once to see her baby, the young mother said:

"I can't. I don't know where the baby is. My mother won't tell me. The last I knew the baby was in care of my mother's neighbor, Mrs. Guthrie. I know my mother has the baby weekends. I'm going to see him there tomorrow morning."

The not-guilty verdict was reached by the jurors after they heard a young South Boston lifeguard, John J. Tierney, make a dramatic proposal of marriage to the defendant, from the witness stand. Tierney had been named as one of two men who were close friends of the estranged young wife.

The other man was identified as Harold Hyder of Dorchester, a high school teacher and father of three children.

Both were named by Eleanor's mother, Mrs. Eleanor E. Harney of O'Callaghan Way, South Boston, widow of a doctor, who declared her daughter was overly interested in going on gay parties, neglecting the baby.

Tierney, who was suddenly served with a summons to appear as a witness as he stood outside of the courtroom earlier in the day, testified he had gone out with Mrs. Kelley frequently during the past year, but that nothing improper had occurred between them.

He said he had been with her at Carson Beach during the summer, but that there was no "loving and hugging," as had been testified.

"I only kissed her when I took her home," Tierney said. "If this girl were free, I do believe I would marry her. That's up to her. I think a lot of her."

Mrs. Kelley had previously testified that her husabnd, Leo Kelley whom she married while he was in the Navy, had deserted her two months after their child was born.

Tierney's mother, Mrs. Alice Tierney, then took the stand and testified that if Mrs. Kelley were free, she would have no objection to her son's marrying her.

Final witness at the trial was William Rydell, a Harvard student and veteran and a long-time friend of Mrs. Kelley's brother, Robert Harney. The brother had testified against his sister last Thursday, declaring she went out with other men and neglected her child.

Rydell testified that a week ago Friday night, in a Boston dine-and-dance cafe, he saw Mrs. Kelley at a table with a man, and that when he went to the table Mrs. Kelley introduced him to "Harold Hyder."

AUGUSTA, Nov. 21—Robert Paulson of Bar Harbor bagged a deer the easy way this morning when a 125-pound buck ran into his truck as he was driving on the state road near Orland.

Bride-to-Be Waits Suicide Fiance's Rites

GLOUCESTER, Nov. 21—Miss Ruth B. Miliner of Chapel st., who was to become a bride tomorrow, was in a state of collapse today, under a physician's care, her bridegroom an 11th hour suicide and her happiness shattered by the bleak fact of a wedding to be replaced by a funeral.

Charles E. Goodwin, 26, of Chestnut st., ended his life by going alone to the Angle st. apartment they had newly furnished in anticipation of their marriage tomorrow—and turning on the gas jets behind doubly bolted doors.

No one has discovered why.

His funeral will be conducted Sunday at 2:30 in his home. Officiating will be the clergyman who was to have performed the marriage, the Rev. Norman Kellett, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, where the wedding had been scheduled.

It was revealed today that Goodwin had been with his fiancee at her home the night before he killed himself, remaining until midnight, cheerful, apparently happy in the prespect of marriage.

Yet yesterday, when he left his home at his usual time for going to work, he went directly to the Angle st. apartment, methodically drew bolts on the doors and turned on the gas.

He had been in good health and recently had received a promotion at his place of employment. Friends of the couple had given them parties. Several showers had been staged for Miss Miliner. Goodwin's most intimate friends had detected no sign of anxiety in him.

Rent Law Ruling To Be Appealed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (INS)—Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods announced today an immediate appeal would be made, probably direct to the Supreme Court, from a federal court ruling the Housing and Rent Act of 1947 is unconstitutional.

Housing officials said the federal court decision would upset the entire rent control and housing program if sustained.

The appeal will be made by the Justice Department, Woods said, and that department will decide whether to go direct to the high court or go through the Federal Appeals Court.

The ruling was made by Federal Judge Paul Jones, senior jurist of the Northern Ohio District in favor of a Cleveland landlord who challenged the rent law by raising apartment rents 40 to 60 per cent.

Soviet Cominform Plans Now Extend Throughout World

By KINGSBURY SMITH

European General Manager, International News Service

PARIS, Nov. 21—Authoritative diplomatic sources in Paris disclosed today reports have been received indicating Communist plans are under way for establishing a "cominform" in the western hemisphere.

Headquarters of this international Communist organization in the Western Hemisphere would, according to these reports, be established in Latin America—probably a step in organizing a world Cominform on a regional basis.

Two capitals reportedly are being considered by the Communists for headquarters of the organization. They are Montevideo, Uruguay and Mexico City.

These reports are being taken seriously in some western diplomatic circles, and there is reason to believe—these informants say—that all Latin American governments have, or soon will be, alerted concerning them.

Those diplomats who are aware of the reports are convinced Russia is behind this move to extend the Cominform to the western hemisphere, especially to the Latin countries.

They further believe it is part of a grand strategy plan adopted at the secret September meeting in Poland of Communist leaders from nine European countries, under the leadership of Marshall A. A. Zhdanov of the Moscow politburo.

The reports now coming to light concerning implementation of Moscow-inspired plans lead western diplomats to believe the Soviets are attempting to organize such a world Cominform on regional lines.

Receipt of information concerning a reported Communist scheme for the Western emisphere followed quickly reports from Hongkong that an Asiatic cominform would soon be established somewher in the Far East.

Creation of these regional Cominforms is viewed as a major strategic move designed to strengthen Russia's position in the world-power politics struggle between the East and West.

Snow, Cold Hit Midwest, Rockies

By the Associated Press

Heavy, blowing snow and colder weather hit parts of the Middle West and Rocky mountain areas today, and further drops in temperature for a wide section of the country were forecast for tonight and tomorrow.

Strong winds accompanied the snow storm in South Dakota, eastern North Dakota and northern Minnesota, with much drifting. Federal forecasters in Chicago said the mercury would drop to below zero in western, northern Dakota tonight and also would fall over the entire midwest and southwest regions.

There was light snow over Nebraska, Montana and Wyoming, and the early morning low temperatures of near-zero were in those states.

Fail to Identify Bellino in Big Holdup

Several men and women employes of the Sturtevant Blower Co., Hyde Park, viewed Joseph Bellino, 38, Newark, N. J., in the headquarters lineup today but failed to identify him as a participant in the $110,000 payroll holdup at the plant Oct. 30.

One woman, a telephone operator at the plant, said Bellino bore a resemblance to one of the men she had seen but that his voice was entirely different.

Police said, nevertheless, that Bellino would be taken to West Roxbury district court tomorrow for arraignment on a warrant charging him with armed robbery in the biggest cash holdup in Boston history.

In the lineup Bellino said he was employed as a longshoreman in Newark and had no knowledge of the holdup. He also denied frequenting night clubs and gay parties in New York, although Lt. James V. Crowley said he had information to that effect.

Bellino, arrested in Newark by FBI agents, was transported to the federal building here last week to answer an indictment charging unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Yesterday, he was turned over to Boston police by the U. S. attorney's office

Navy Bans 'Green Bowl,' Annapolis Secret Society

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—The Navy today issued orders banning forevre the 40-year-old Annapolis secret society known as the "Green Bowl," because of "rumor and speculation" that its members had the inside track for promotions and high-ranking jobs.

A Navy "memorandum to the press" said there is no evidence that the group had any such influence.

But there had been, it added, an "adverse effect to a limited degree on service morale, because of the fear of the potentialities of an alleged self-serving secret society."

The report said a total of 156 naval and marine officers now on active duty belonged to the Green Bowl in midshipmen days. Armed Forces, an unofficial service publication, said recently 18 of these are admirals.

A full-scale investigation of the Green Bowl was ordered after Capt. J. G. Crommelin, Jr., testified before a Congressional committee that it was an innocently-started organization "grown vicious with the years."

Seventy-five officers were questioned during the two-month inquiry which followed. It was under the direction of R. Adm. Frank J. Lowry.

Today's memorandum said the Green Bowl's "sole purpose was social" and aimed at evading strict Academy rules against smoking or drinking by midshipmen.

"The investigators did not receive any persuasive evidence that the Green Bowl, or any of its members, discriminated against non-members, or that the association attempted in any way to obtain promotions or preferential duty assignments for any of its members," the Navy declared.

The full report of the investigation is classified "confidential" by the Navy, and officials declined to disclose the names of the 156 Green Bowlers now on active duty.

Admiral Lowry's findings on which the memorandum is based could not be obtained immediately, but one high-ranking officer promised it would be made public later.

Hyannis to Get New Hotel, Cabanas

Contruction on a completely modern six-story resort hotel and village of cabanas to cost $450,000 will be started this winter at Hyannis on Cape Cod, it was announced to day by William Davies, chief architect of Thomas Worcester, Inc., speaking to the New England Conference at Hotel Statler.

The new development, to be known as "Eaglestown Village," is being sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Holm, owners of a Boston restauarant and proprietors of "Eagleston Inn" at Hyannis.

Davies said the hotel will have 164 rooms and the courtyard in front will be lined with specialty shops. The 36 deluxe cabanas will be constructed beyond in formal gardents at the rear. The architect said the main building will cost about $300,000 and the cabanas about $100,000.

Blum Seeks Coalition Cabinet, Lashes Reds

By ROBERT PARKER

PARIS, Nov. 21 (INS)—Socialist leader and Premier-Designate Leon Blum asked the French National Assembly for support of a "public safety" coalition government today amid spreading strikes and disorders.

As Blum attacked both Communists and Gen. Charles De Gaulle, French police cleared sitdown strikers from a suburban munitions plant.

The lightning raid was believed to prevent an alleged Communist arson plot against strike-bound factories.

Meanwhile, the mounting wave of strikes spread to primary school teachers in the Paris area.

In Bordeaux, all maritime unions of the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor voted to strike.

First reports of the Communist arson plot came when two sitdown workers at the struck Renault plant were seriously injured in a mysterious explosion which rocked a section of the occupied factory during the night. One of the injured men is not expected to live.

Police were unable immediately to determine exact cause of the blast but some deputies said they believe it was connected with the theft of a quantity of chlorate potassium and sulphuric acid from the central Renault laboratories last night.

The chemicals were believed sufficient to manufacture several hundred home-made incendiary bombs. Some legislators expressed the belief the thefts are part of a Communist plot to set the torch to plants from which the government attempts to evict sit-down strikers.

Mother Dies in Vain Effort To Rescue Boy From Fire

LEWISTON, Me., Nov. 21—A mother gave her life in a vain effort to rescue her only child when fire swept their home in Riv erside st. early today.

The bodies of Mrs. Leonard J. Collins, 30, and her son, James, 3, were found at the window of a second floor bedroom where they died as the mother sought to leap from the window with her child clutched in her arms.

SUSPECT SMILES—Joyce Nichols, 13, of Bakersfield, Cal., smiles in a police station where she is still being questioned on the slaying of Myretta Jones, 5, in a children's cave. The girl has allegedly confessed that she beat the child to death with a rock.

In the other second floor bedroom was found the body of Brownie, a hunting dog which gave the alarm that allowed Mrs. Collins' husband, 35, and his father, James T. Collins, 70, to escape the flash fire.

Fire broke out in the living room, apparently from a short circuit, according to Fire Chief Z. Frederick Drouin. The dog awakened his master, the elder Collins, who shouted the alarm to the sleeping couple.

Husband and wife started down the stairway to investigate the shouts and came upon the fire eating through the living room. The husband ran outside to summon aid.

Mrs. Collins turned and ran back up the stairway, followed by tongues of flame whipped by a draft from the open front door. The elder Collins had made his way to the street in the belief the others were at his heels.

The mother lifted her child from his crib, but as she reached the window fell a victim of the intense heat and choking smoke.

The flames were checked on the stairway before they reached the second floor. Damage was estimated at $1500.

When the bodies were found, the younger Collins became so distraught he had to be given a sedative by a physician.

Truman Won't Halt Buying By Reds Now

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP) President Truman said today he sees no reason to stop the sale of heavy machinery and farm equipment to Russia at this time.

Questioned at a news conference, Mr. Truman said the Soviet government has a purchasing commission here and has been allowed to purchase machinery for the rehabilitation of electric dams destroyed by the Germans, as well as the farm equipment.

The Russians have purchased $113,700,000 in goods from this country during the first nine months of this year. Included was several million dollars worth of industrial machinery.

Russia also got 216 freight cars valued at $1,240,00 from this country between April and October, Commerce Dept. records show, but who made the sales is a puzzle.

Officials, unable to trace the transactions directly, surmised that the Russians bought them from Americans who in turn had bought them from the War Assets Administration.

Probe Started Of $100,000 Revere Fire

A two-way investigation was launched today to determine cause of the $100,000 fire which destroyed a block-long building and threatened to sweep the entire amusement section of Revere Beach.

State and local investigators sought clues in the smouldering ashes of Hurley's Fun House, a three-story amusement center 300 feet long and 100 feet wide at Ocean ave. and Revere Beach blvd.

The fire proved a crushing double tragedy for William Hurley of Revere Beach blvd., who lost his wife and his livelihood in the general alarm blaze.

Mrs. Lillian Hurley, 56, collapsed and died of a heart attack as she hurried from her home to enter her auto and drive to the fire only a few blocks away.

The Hurley amusement center, built some 70 years ago by the late John Hurley and enlarged by the present operators, his sons William and John, was wiped out.

The razed building housed the Square Diamond, a pinball game; Hurley's Merry-go-Round, Hurley's Palm Gardens and Hurley's Hurdles.

E. Boston Councilor Denies Flouting Police

City Councilor James S. Coffey, of East Boston, arrested during last night's $100,000 blaze in Revere, pleaded not guilty in Chelsea district court today to a charge of refusing to obey the command of a police officer during an emergency.

At the councilor's request, Judge John W. McLeod continued the case to Dec. 1 and released him in $100 personal recognizance.

Patrolman Max Freedman of Revere testified he was stationed in Ocean ave. with orders to permit no one to pass since a burning three story building there was on the point of collapse. He said Coffey approached with friends in his car, refused to halt and then abused him verbally when he insisted on stopping the car.

Heavy Cream Up 2c., Light 1c., on Sunday

An increase in the retail price of cream was announced today by H. P. Hood & Sons. Starting Sunday, heavy cream will be upped 2 cents a half pint and light cream, 1 cent.

Officials said the boost, expected also from other firms, is necessary because of rising Chicago wholesale butter prices. The rise will bring cream prices to approximately the same level as this time last year.

Reich Widow, Engaged to Two Vets, Seized on Arrival in N.Y.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—Marielle Strauss, 28, German war widow, arrived here from Europe early today but was immediately taken into custody by immigration authorities before she could go on to Chicago to join one of her two ex-GI sweethearts.

Immigration officials said the pretty blonde, who arrived here with her eight-year-old daughter, would be taken later to Ellis Island to appear before a special board of inquiry to determine her status and whether she would be allowed to remain in the U. S.

They said she was held after she told them she wished to go to Chicago to join Fred Lutz, 39, a baker, instead of to Strong City, Kan., where Charles Shumaker, 40, a railroader, waited her arrival.

She had been permitted to leave Germany on a visa saying her destination was Strong City.

The mixup started when Marielle, widow of a German army officer and betrothed to Shumaker, indicated in her latest letter to him that she was in love with Lutz.

Shumaker said in Strong City he had the plane fare for Mrs. Strauss and her daughter and has a home prepared for her arrival "and a farm home to live in if she'd rather have it."

He said he and Marielle "went steady all the time I was in Bavaria from late 1944 until I was sent home in September, 1945.

"We fell in love and planned to get married. As soon as I got home I started making arrangements to bring her to Kansas. It's taken me two years to get her here."

And in those two years, he continued, he and Marielle corresponded.

And that's where Lutz came in. Lutz left Bad Tolz when he was 20 after having known Marielle while they were children. He returned in 1939 to find her married. When he came back again with the American Army of occupation, he learned that her husband was dead.

Since she could not write English, Lutz wrote the letters to Shumaker at Marielle's dictation, and in turn Shumaker's letters to her.

Lutz said in Chicago today that he fell in love with Marielle after helping her arrange with the railroader for passage to this country, and added Marielle agreed to marry him but feared that changing papers signed by Shumaker would delay her trip here.

CRANBERRY QUEEN IN NEW YORK—Attractive Sharon Casey of Onset, recently elected Cranberry Queen of Cape Cod, presents 12-pound box of Thanksgiving cranberries to deputy mayor of New York, Col. John J. Wallace Talks to Mixed Group In Atlanta Church

ATLANTA, Nov. 21 (AP)—Former Vice-President Wallace spoke to a non-segregated audience from the pulpit of a Negro Baptist church here last night, said he was for peace and the U. S. bill of rights, but was against:

"Wall Street interests, Wall Street stooges in Congress, universal military training, racial discrimination, the poll tax, and "red hysteria."

RUSSIAN QUADS

MOSCOW, Nov. 21 (AP)—The Soviet press announced today the birth of quadruplets to a farm woman near Frunze. A special medical service has been set up for their care, it said.

Today May Be Your Big Day

Today, opportunity may come your way. An opportunity to advance yourself with your employer . . . to land a big order . . . or to make a new and important acquaintance. Don't let that opportunity be spoiled by "B.O." (body odor). Don't go without your Lifebuoy bath a single day. Remember, you perspire up to a quart and a half every day; you need a Lifebuoy bath every day. For daily use of Lifebuoy builds increasingly better protection against "B.O."

Legion Seminar Shows Need To Outlaw Communist Party

By DAN MARKEL
Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—The American Legion will intensify its efforts to have Congress outlaw the Communist Party, National Com. James F. O'Neil said here at the conclusion of the Legion's first counter-subversion seminar.

Evidence produced at the seminar by 16 authorities on Red Fascist infiltration affords ample justification for legislation declaring the party illegal, he asserted, continuing:

"The Communist party in the United States must be recognized for what it is—the agent of an unfriendly foreign power."

Similar seminars will be held soon by Legion departments in many states.

REDS OPPOSE UMT

Jan Valtin, author of "Out of the Night," and authority on subversive techniques, linked the Communist party with opposition to universal military training.

"Every Communist official is trained to attack any attempt at preparedness in a non-Communist country," he said, "and to enlist the aid of phony pacifist propaganda to combat military training.

"When a Communist speaks against war and for peace, it is solely for propaganda reasons. In Communist theory, war is regarded as inevitable."

WOMEN RESIST

Suzanne LaFollette, author and lecturer, charged that Communists are attempting to infiltrate the Young Women's Christian Ass'n. and Parent-Teacher Associations, but have so far had no great success.

Women's resistance to Communist termite tactics has been formidable, she said, "except in the penthouse set which has proved particularly vulnerable."

Paul H. Griffith, past national commander of the Legion, reporting on a recent tour of Western Europe, said the Communist program there is to instill hostility toward the U. S.

Jap Solons In Fist Fight Over Quorum Question

TOKYO, Nov. 21 (AP)—Japanese House of Representatives members staged a 40-minute fist-swinging melee last night, with chamber guards, government party members, Communists and oppositionists joining in the clash. No injuries were reported.

Some had claimed there was no quorum present, but Speaker Komakichi Matsuoka said there was.

Prosecution Nears End In Madge Meredith Trial

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21 (AP)—Prosecution moved toward a conclusion today in the trial of Madge Meredith, fledgling actress, on charges of assaulting and kidnaping her former manager, Nick Gianaclis.

Defense counsel indicated that Albert Tucker, one of three men co-defendants with Miss Meredith, would be their first witness, with Miss Meredith to follow later.

Human Weight Least at Noon, Savant Finds

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21 (AP)—If a woman is reducing, the best time to weigh herself is around noon when the sun is nearest overhead, because then she weighs actually a bit less than when she is getting up in the morning.

The reason is the upward pull on the lady by the sun's gravitation.

This fact of life came out at the American Philosophical Society when Paul D. Foote, physicist and vice president of the Gulf Oil Corp., was telling how to discover oil.

One favorite way is to read the extra gravitational pull of rocks buried as much as two miles under the earth's surface. For this, amazingly sensitive instruments give the basis for knowing that human weight is slightly less at noon.

Foote said a 150-pound lady at sunrise weighs 149.999955 pounds at noon.

The oil company executive told of a gravitational spring so constructed that it would elongate slightly less on the second floor than on the first because there is less gravitational pull at one floor extra distance from the earth.

Dr. Wallace O. Fenn, professor of Physiology at the University of Rochester School of Medicine and Dentistry, estimated a man could live 20 years if sealed up in Grand Central Station, New York.

Even in 20 years this lone man would not breathe up all the oxygen in the Grand Central. But in 20 years his body would have produced so much carbon dioxide to mix with the station air that he would begin to feel badly.

By that time, however, he would have become so accustomed to increased carbon dioxide in the air he could stand an amount of this gas which people outside could not endure.

Herter Urges Caution on Foreign Aid

Cong. Christian A. Herter, chairman of the House committee on foreign aid, warned today the nation should be cautious in what it promised to other nations and should make no commitments beyond 18 months.

Speaking at the 23d New England Conference of business and industrial leaders at Hotel Statler, Herter outlined his committee's plan for a new corporation to direct food and fuel aid to other nations and our own nation's export control policies.

He said:

"I feel foreign aid is needed but the way in which any program we may adopt is administered is of vital importance not alone to the American people, who will be called on to make sacrifices, but likewise in the proper use by foreign nations of what we can contribute."

Conference delegates still were talking about the forceful speech of Robert R. Young, chairman of the board of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway.

Young charged New York banking interests were depriving Boston of a healthy and prosperous port. If his line, which owns 40 per cent of New York Central stock, was permitted to sit on the New York Central board, he declared, Boston would be given a trunk rail line to the West, bringing a tremendous volume of business to the port.

Asked later to explain his reference to New York banking interests, he declared: "Morgan and Kuhn & Loeb."

Development of New England's recreational, industrial and agricultural interests predominated in today's discussions at the conference.

George Hammond, executive vice-president of the Carl Byoir Associates declared New England was overdue for a large scale investment in modern tourist facilities since the true magnitude of its recreational possibilities had not yet been appraised.

Dr. Alfred C. Neal, research director for the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, pointed out New England had new opportunity for expansion as southern wage levels became less of a magnet in attracting industries away from other areas.

Laurence F. Whittemore, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, described the portable saw mill as the greatest enemy of continued production on the New England farm woodlot. He called on New England farmers for better management of their wood producing acreage.

Bulgarians Nab Turkish Invading Soldier

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Nov. 20 (Delayed) (AP)—The Bulgarian interior ministry said tonight a Turkish soldier—identified as Pvt. Mussa—was captured by Bulgarian troops last Saturday when he, with other soldiers, came across the border. The others withdrew after firing at the Bulgarian troops.

Bulgaria has notified the United Nations of the incident and is preparing a protest against the "organized border violation" to be handed to the Turkish government.

70 Flee Night Fire Sweeping Lynn Block

More than 70 persons were forced to flee early today when fire swept a four story wooden apartment block in Estes st., Lynn, causing damage estimated at $20,000.

The fire broke out in a ground floor incinerator, travelled up a side wall to the roof and caused heaviest damage on the top floor, according to Fire Chief Joseph E. Scanlon.

Firemen Joseph Buckley and Gilbert Lauzon found four persons attempting to escape the flames on a rear porch. The firemen guided them back into the building and down a rear exit to the street.

One person was slightly injured. Miss Margaret Hart, 35, was carrying her pet dog, Buster, in her arms from the building when she tripped over a hoseline and suffered minor injuries.

Three families residing on the top floor were left temporarily homeless and all were given emergency shelter at the Red Cross building in Market st.

Slayer of Girl To File Appeal Of Death Edict

Sentenced to die in the electric chair for the sex slaying of 7-year-old Louise Ann Kurpiel, after a jury in Superior Court at Lawrence convicted him of first degree murder, Vincent P. Dellechiaje, 22, was granted a 20-day stay in which his counsel will file an appeal.

Although the condemned youth declined an opportunity given him by Judge Abraham E. Pinanski to address the court, his counsel was successful in obtaining the stay of execution.

Dellechiaie, whose only reaction to the jury verdict had been to bite his lips, leaned heavily on the arms of two deputies when they lde him from the courtroom after the death sentence was pronounced.

The jury came in at 3:10 p. m., after having deliberated three hours and 10 minutes, following the charge of Judge Pinanski in which he instructed the jurors to exclude "sympathy or compassion" from their deliberations.

The court stressed that intoxication could not be "a shield from punishment" and that insanity was not an issue.

The defendant offered as his defense that he had been drinking heavily on Sept. 7 and had no recollection of the brutal crime.

42,000 Nurses Needed in U. S.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21 (AP)—Almost 42,000 nurses are needed to meet the current shortage in the U. S. and the number may soon go to 60,000, the health magazine Hygeia said.

In an editorial in Hygeia, published by the American Medical Ass'n, Dr. Morris Fishbein suggested that the training of more practical nurses to take over the major part of ordinary bedside nursing in hospitals may be the answer to the problem.

He said the general belief seemed to prevail that:

"The nursing profession is desirable but that it offers too little reward to those who practice it and too high a cost to those who need it."

U. S. Denies Report 3 Nazi Army Chiefs to Be Indicted

NUERNBERG, Germany, Nov. 21 (AP)—Brig Gen. Telford Taylor, U. S. chief of counsel for war crimes, denied that three former German field marshals—Gerd von Rundstedt, Fricz Erich van Manstein and Walther Brauchitsch—will be indicted in the coming high command war crimes trial.

The Associated Press quoted James McHaney, U. S. war crimes prosecutor, as saying they would be put on trial. In t statement today McHaney said he had been misquoted.

Girl Bride, Freed, Won't Join Hubby

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 21 (AP)—George Olcott, 50, said his 16-year-old bride, Doris Anderson Olcott, refused to accompany him from the training school in Morristown where her commitment was ended by a chancery court order Olcott obtained Tuesday.

She was committeed for juvenile delinquency when her sister called police shortly after the marriage Aug. 7. Vice-Chancelor John O. Bigelow, in ordering her release, ruled her marriage was valid and she was a resident of New York, and consequently did not come under the jurisdiction of the Essex County juvenile court.

"I spent $4000 in lawyer's fees and other expenses to get her back and now she doesn't want to come back," Olcott said. "I don't think she meant it, though."

More Tankers Needed to Ease Oil Shortage

Governors of the six New England states today urged the U. S. Maritime Commission to re-commission immediately as many oil tankers as possible to avert a threatened fuel oil crisis, and warned householders throughout the area of the necessity of conserving oil.

Predicting a demand for 17 to 25 per cent more fuel oil than was consumed last year, the governors telegraphed the Maritime Commission that New England needs at least one additional tanker a day to make up the deficiency in storage that already exists here.

New burner installations alone will call for 17 per cent more oil than was consumed last year, while a severely cold winter would jump the demand to 25 per cent, the governors pointed out.

They outlined a four point program to keep New England warm this winter. It is:

1—Close every unnecessary room, particularly sun porches.

2—Provide insulation wherever possible, particularly storm windows.

3—Postpone all conversions from coal to oil that are not yet completed.

4—Wherever possible keep the thermostat at not over 68 degrees 24 hours a day.

The governors met here to attend the 23d annual governors' conference of the New England Council. Signing the appeal for tankers were: Govs. Hildreth, of Maine, Gibson, of Vermont, Dale, of New Hampshire, Bradford, of Massachusetts, McConaughy, of Connecticut, Lt. Gov. McKiernan, of Rhode Island.

$7000 Bonds Stolen in Brighton

Thieves entered his home through a rear door and stole $7000 in war bonds, Dr. Theodore Feldman of Portina rd., Brighton, reported to police early today.

The loot included six $1000 bonds, two $500 bonds, a child's bank containing $6 in coins, a gold watch of unestimated value and four bank books, he told police.

All the bonds and bank books were taken from a metal strong box, together with insurance papers. Fingerprint experts from headquarters examined the strong box and interior of the house.

Elizabeth

cony appearance of their monarch.

But the lights that flooded the Palace finally flicked off, and all the rolling shouts of "we want the king, and "we want Margaret" brought no sign from the wide windows.

GREAT DAY AT END

When it became clear that the great day was at an end, the masses drifted slowly away and some 150 romantic youths and their maids snake-danced about the base of Eros, the Cupid god who stands amid the swirling traffic center, London's trademark, Piccadilly.

Exuberant youths even climbed upon Eros, but firm and patient bobbies sent them on quieter paths.

The earlier scenes at the Palace projected Elizabeth's mischievous 17-year-old sister, whose happy handwaving shifted the center of the spotlight from her royal parents.

But despite the entreaties of the throng, Margaret did not appear in the final balcony appearance of her father and mother.

In Romsey, little was known about the immediate plans of the honeymooners, if, ineed, they had any detailed plans.

Official functions are largely out of their way for the next several weeks, and their time will be their own, to ramble as they please over the brick-walled, 6000-acre estate of Broadlands or along the twisting, fenced byways of southern England's soft hills, 70 miles outside London.

TOWN JUMPING-OFF SPOT

Romsey was uncertainly restrained in its greetings to the Princess and Philip, whose creation as a prince of the realm was announced as he sped with his bride by special train to the nearby ancient city of Winchester, site of the jousting fields of knights of old.

Belatedly, the town fathers agreed to allow decorations along the old streets, and the flags of many nations fluttered from treetops.

In the middle was the Union Jack, on either side the Stars and Stripes.

For Romsey now is practically an Anglo-American town and recalls itself as one of the major jumping off places for American troops on D-Day.

WAR CAPTIVES STIRRED

Visitors came from many miles —from Wales and Birmingham, from little towns and big—and nearly doubled Romsey's population.

After dark, going "home" from a day's labor in neighboring fields, came three men, one of them commenting in bewildered fashion to his fellow German war captives "Veilelcht ein hochzeit"—"maybe a wedding."

London's papers, thinly rationed to four pages, clipped their chronicles of sport and foreign troubles to relate in detailed words and huge pictures what the Labor Party's "Daily Herald" headlined as "The full story of a perfect wedding day."

"We have seen a thousand years of British tradition, evoked and embodied before the whole world, move confidently on to meet the future," summed up the News Chronicle.

"From that spectacle there has come to those who watched and listened some subtle assurance that stability and happiness are ours in the years to come if we will go together and grasp them."

RUSSIA SILENT

Russia's press and the Moscow radio spoke no word of the wedding.

Its kin, the Communist Daily Worker in London, told the story of the wedding in 47 words

Filmland Reds On the Run, Says Hughes

Special to the Boston American

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21—Hammered into a corner by disclosures produced by the recent Thomas Un-American Committee hearings, Hollywood Communists are now "on the run," Author Rupert Hughes asserted.

Hughes, in San Francisco to lecture on "Communism in Hollywood—Fact Not Fiction," said the current New York meeting of top movie producers is bound to set up new policies to curb the leftists who have been permeating America's movie capital.

He predicted Hollywood's chieftains will embark on a "big clean-up of their own" which will curb job opportunity and big salaries of the industry's Reds, including writers, actors and directors.

MAY GO TO JAIL

Congress, he added, "will probably send a lot of them to jail for short terms," as the result of contempt citations against those who refused to answer committee questions at the recent Washington hearings.

Hughes, widely known scenarist and biographer once extremely active in Hollywood, said Hollywood wouldn't dare now to show a pro-Russian film such as "Mission to Moscow," shown during the war.

"The audience would burn the theater down," he said.

A star witness who appeared before the House Committee in Washington, Hughes said the Communist-tinged Hollywood figures who appeared before it "continually ranted they were not granted free speech as guaranteed them in this country."

Still, he said, many of the same group of Reds would threaten tion Electric also had been recommended to Bell by other officers.

On the stand yesterday, Meyers declared:

"I am going to tell you the complete truth about the Aviation Electric Co.

"I am afraid that I have to drop to a new low—even lower than the accusations that have been made against me.

"I do this with great hesitancy and reluctance, but I see no other way.

REGRETS TIEUP

"I see no other way to bring out the truth, except to tell the whole story.

"I still have a little bit of chivalry. So I dislike to inject the name of a woman here. But Mrs. Lamarre was my girl friend from approximately 1936 to 1940, with Mr. Lamarre's knowledge, approval and acquiescence.

"This whole conception of Aviation Electric developed from that and is tied up entirely with it.

"I want to state that I believe it most unfortunate that I ever got mixed up in that particular imbroglio and with Aviation Electric in general.

"I regret it from the bottom of my heart.

"There was no other reason for forming the company, but solely for the benefit of the Lamarres."

Mrs. Lamarre was Meyers' secretary from 1936 to 1939 at the Army's Wright Field in Dayton, where the General subsequently became deputy chief of Air Force purchasing during the war. At the time, Meyers was married to his second wife. He is now married for the third time, to the former Ila Rae Curnutt.

Ferguson has read into the committee record a federal statute providing a $2000 fine and two years in prison for government contracting officers who do business with firms in which they have an interest.

Ferguson asked Meyers whether forming the company to get Mrs. Lamarre back from California was not "a greater disgrace to the uniform" than forming it with the idea of personal profit.

Meyers replied that when he organized Aviation Electric he was interested only in providing the Lamarres with a decent living and had no idea in 1939 it would develop into a war sub-contracting

IS KENNEDY'S NOW

Girl Student Back, Teacher Case Dropped

Complaints charging Roslyn Siegel, 18, drama student, with being a runaway, and Warren C. Chamberlain, 35, one of her teachers, with abduction were withdrawn in Municipal Court today by Judge Elijah Adlow at request of the girl's stepfather, Ralph Cutter, of Maple st., Roxbury.

Cutter, accompanied by Mrs. Ann Chamberlain of Commonwealth ave., attractive wife of the teacher, had obtained the complaints from Judge Daniel J. Gillen Wednesday after his stepdaughter and Chamberlain disappeared Tuesday.

Judge Adlow was reluctant to dismiss the complaints when Cutter and his attorney, Sidney C. Winston, appeared in court without the defendants. After learning the facts of the case, however, he dismissed the complaints.

It was learned from Winston the girl had returned home yesterday. He said she had left Boston for New York with Chamberlain on his representation he could obtain radio work for her through connections he had made during his service.

The attorney said they separated on reaching New York and she spent the night with an uncle. He said she met Chamberlain the following day but was "quickly disillusioned" about his ability to obtain radio work for her.

He said she remained in New York with her uncle that night and returned home yesterday.

The stepfather told Judge Adlow he was satisfied his daughter had gone to New York of her own free will and nothing wrong had occurred.

He blamed the escapade on her dreams of attaining success on the stage or in radio. He said she had drawn about $200 from her savings account, not the $1500 originally reported.

3 Malden Recounts Set for Next Week

Recount of ballots cast in three Malden wards in contests for two city council and one aldermanic seat will be held Wednesday night in the Malden Common Council chamber.

The contests involve the defeat of Willfred L. Fox by Theodore R. Sandberg by 15 votes in the council contest in Ward 1; the victory of Councilor Joseph G. Amelio over Peter Longo by 39 votes in Ward 2 and the defeat of Simon Gilbert for alderman in Ward 7 by Max Rosenblatt by 11 votes.

British Balk Snags Palestine Partition

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 21 (AP)—A U. S.-Soviet approved plan for partitioning Palestine into sovereign Arab and Jewish countries struck a new but not wholly unexpected snag today that threatened to delay a UN decision on the Holy Land problem.

The snag appeared when Britain refused to share responsibility for the Palestine mandate with a UN commission, thus rejecting one of the main props under an elaborate scheme for partition of the Holy Land.

This action forced the 57-nation Palestine committee to refer the plan back to a nine-nation subcommittee with instructions to see if the scheme could be modified to meet British objections.

BROCKTON, Nov. 21—A third continuance in the eviction proceedings against widowed Mrs. Bridget Lyons, White ave., was in effect today when Mrs. Lyons attended the solemn high mass of requiem at St. Patrick's Church for her returned hero son, Pfc. William Lyons, killed at Remagen in December, 1944.

This was the third two-week continuance of her case made by agreement of counsel.

Leukemia Boy's Yule Due Early

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Nov. 21 (AP)—Santa Claus will visit Dickie Fosdick, 4, Saturday night because doctors say the boy probably will not live until Christmas.

The child is suffering from leukemia and doctors said his death is certain within a few weeks, "Maybe two, maybe three."

Dickie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Fosdick, has three sisters, and 5-year-old Sharon—who is old enough to know all about Christmas — understands Santa Claus will be back again Dec. 25 with her gifts and those for Peggy, 18 months, and Linda, 5 months.

SANTAS BRIEFED

CHICAGO, Nov. 21 (AP)—Santa's red-suited helpers were given the word today to lay off the onions and garlic, carry a handkerchief and keep their hands clean.

The Volunteers of America, northwest area, held a briefing session for their white-whiskered men, and also admonished them never to pick up or kiss a child, never smoke on the job and to maintain a pleasant, gentlemanly manner at all times.

Most of the Santa helpers, who seek contributions for Chicago's needy, are from among the elderly unemployed. They get paid for their work.

$100 Murder Jury Views Lynn Death Scene

LAWRENCE, Nov. 21 An Essex Superior Court jury travelled to Lynn today to view the scene where Harry Rosen, 63, was beaten to death in his East Lynn factory during a $100 robbery, June 4.

On trial, charged with first degree murder, are Herbert A. Douglas, 27, and Roy S. Shurger, 16, both residents of a shack in the Lynn woods near the Peabody boundary. Both pleaded not guilty to charges they beat the manufacturer to death with a hammer.

They were arrested a week after the crime in Ithaca, N. Y., together with the boy's mother, Mrs. Laura Shurger, 31. She was held in $25,000 bail in Lynn court on a charge of being an accessory after the fact of murder, but was released Sept. 10 when the Essex Grand Jury refused to indict her.

The boy observed his 16th birthday June 12, the day he appeared in Lynn court and pleaded not guilty to the murder complaint, which replaced the original charge of juvenile delinquency.

The jurors are Henry Caron of Salem, Grinaldo Champy, Lawrence; Grover C. Clark, Haverhill; John O. Cray, Haverhill; William F. Donahue, Lawrence; Joseph A. Donovan, Lawrence; Edmund P. Gillis, Ipswich; Henry G. Gorman, Lynn; Alcide Gravel, North Andover; Hobart Hanley, Marblehead; Thomas A. Joyce, Lawrence; John W. Martin, Salem; William J. Richard, Lynn, and Edwin Student, Lawrence.

Reds Hint Break With Iran Over Oil

LONDON, Nov. 21 (AP)—Russia has delivered to Iran a stiff note charging that by voiding proposed oil concessions to the Soviet Union a month ago the Iranian government committed a hostile act, Moscow Radio said today.

The broadcast said the note, delivered to Premier Ahmed Gavam yesterday in Tehran, was a "resolute protest" against "the hostile actions of the Iran government in regard to the Soviet Union, which are incompatible with normal relations between the two states."

In making this strong hint at a break in diplomatic relations, the note "charged the government of Iran with responsibility for the consequences of this," the broadcast added.

A-Bomb Solons Seek Tighter Security Laws

By WILLIAM P. FLYTHE
Boston American Wash. Bureau

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 — A special session of the joint Congressional atomic committee has been called to guard the secret of the world's most terrible war weapon falling into alien hands.

The group will meet Tuesday to:

1— Draft a vital change in the law to give the Dept. of Defense control over war secrets.

2— Make changes in the law, or regulations, to place greater safeguards around the [illegible] secrets.

RIGHTS OF SERVICES

There is a probability, it was stated, that the changes will be made at the special session of Congress.

Sen. Hickenlooper (R.) of Iowa, committee chairman, said it had become necessary to change that portion of the law covering the rights of the armed services.

At the time the atomic law was adopted, the New Deal Administration was eager to share the secret with the world and turn the entire project over to civilian control.

The military was assigned a remote spot in the picture. Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, the man who produced the atomic bomb, was denied any voice in the operations.

There is no provision in the law for the armed services, the new Dept. of National Defense.

MORE AUTHORITY

Sen. Hickenlooper said the committee would be asked to clarify and change the law so that the new unified military organization would be given more direct authority in atomic energy operations, particularly the manufacture for defense.

At the same time the committee will review all regulations governing security and highly confidential reports concerning the possibility of Russia, or any other nation, having perfected a bomb.

Hoover Sees Fall Of Red Ideology

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (INS)— Former President Herbert Hoover expressed firm belief that the "Communist-ridden peoples (of the world) will sooner or later throw off their chains."

Hoover, in an address accepting the gold medal of the Holland Society of New York, said the world has been divided into two camps —with Russian Communism "obviously the great shadow which hangs over the future." He continued:

"Our task is to avoid war between these two worlds.

"Every year we gain brings us nearer to the day when these monstrous regimes, like all their predecessors in history, will fail."

China Begins Balloting In First National Election

NANKING, Nov. 21 (AP)— China began voting today in its first national election in history with a general air of apathy toward this initial use of the ballot under a new constitution.

Balloting for 3044 seats in the National Assembly, which will select China's first constitutionally-chosen president and vice-president, will continue three days. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's party, which has been running affairs in China 20 years, is expected to win by a landslide.

BOYS END HUNT

BEDMINSTER, N. J., Nov. 21 (AP)—It was "tally ho" in the brisk country air near here yesterday as the Essex-Fox Hounds Hunting Club chased a fox.

The crowd of huntsmen in their red coats were just about to close in on the fleeing fox when two shots rang out and the fox keeled over like a duck pin.

Out from the bushes emerged—not a red coated huntsman—but two boys in overalls who were hunting for rabbits.

MAIL DEADLINE TODAY

Today is the deadline for mailing Christmas packages to the states of California, Oregon, Washington and Arizona, it was announced by Postmaster Patrick J. Connelly.

Quiz Slayer of 2 In Nurse's Death

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 21 (INS)—Authorities compared the fingerprints of the admitted slayer of two prominent Indianapolis women to those found in the bludgeon murder last year of a student nurse.

Robert A. Watts, 25, already has admitted murdering Mrs. Mary Lois Burney, 39, society matron, and Mrs. Mabel Merrifield, 68, clubwoman.

Police said they expected to question Watts in connection with the death Sept. 11, 1946, of Alberta Green, 22, of Mt. Carmel, Ill. Miss Green died after being slugged in a hospital corridor.

Assignment: America

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (INS)—It is, of course, ridiculous for a mere newsman to make suggestions to the President, the Congress, the Army, the Navy and the Air Force.

More than that, it is presumptuous and impertinent!

So, now that we have that point settled, let's get on with the suggestion:

Let's have all questionable situations in our armed forces—in peacetime as well as war—investigated by the Central Intelligence Agency, which owes no allegiance to any individual branch of the service and is answerable only to the National Security Council and the President.

It will do away with all of this business which currently is distracting attention from the important jobs of deciding what is to be done about foreign aid and domestic inflation.

INTEREST ON PROBE

Congress has been assembled to consider these two problems of such terrific importance to the American people and to humanity as a whole.

Those problems definitely concern whether we will have another war in the near future—and whether we will be faced with another internal economic revolution.

But interest is not in congressional activities, but in the wartime activities of former Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers and his alleged personal war plant profits while serving as a procurement officer in the Army Air Force.

And more and more responsible citizens are asking why didn't the Air Force, or the Army which then controlled the Air Force, probe that situation fully when it was first called to their attention?

VET LEADER PROTESTS

And other citizens, such as Amvet National Com. Edgar C. Corry, Jr., are charging that it was just "another case of Army generals white-washing Army generals."

His solution—"That an independent investigating body be set up within the armed forces to probe irregularities of all kinds"—is fortunately unnecesary.

The reason: We already have the newly-formed central intelligence agency, which isn't brass-hampered by being "within the armed forces."

That agency is a part of our new national security set-up. Planned as a sort of super counter-intelligence corps with foreign activities its chief concern, it reports only to the President and his security councilmen.

It is only a matter of slightly increased personnel to have it investigate all cases of armed forces irregularities.

SUCCESSFUL COURSES

Overseas during the war, such a system—even though somewhat hampered by brass—was often spectacularly successful. Many of our counter-intelligence agents were answerable only to Washington. They filtered into questionable headquarters and turned up evidence resulting in the replacement, if not court-martial, of countless officers up to and including generals.

Had they been completely free of topside brass, the results might have been even more spectacular. Today, in the central intelligence agency where many of them already are working, they could be fully free.

Had they been probing the case of Gen. Meyers, the subject would have been settled long ago.

"I don't mind his blocking my view of the game—as long as nobody blocks my view of him!"

Compton Urges Training, Supplies

Warning that an attitude of generosity and justice on the part of the United States may not be enough to insure security at the present stage of world affairs, Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of M. I. T., today urged more military preparedness to effectively curb ambitious ideologies.

He recommended, in addition to universal military traning, the maintenance of an adequate standing force and the stockpiling of essential materials, that the United States have "better intelligence to know the plans of any future Hitler."

Addressing more than 300 educators attending the meeting of the Massachusetts School Superintendents' Assn at Hotel Bradford, Dr. Compton warned that it was this countrys unpreparedness in the middle 30s that induced Hitler to go to war.

Cop's Son Admits Setting Fire Which Razed Church

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21 (AP)—The son of a Philadelphia policeman was under arrest today on a charge of arson in connection with the burning of historic St. Anne's Roman Catholic Church on Armistice Day.

Fire Marshall George J. Gallagher said John Allen, 20, admitted in a signed statement he started the fire which left only the walls of the church standing after a 90-minute blaze.

Suction Leg to Aid Vet Amputees

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 21 (AP)—An artificial leg which attaches itself to the stump by suction and does away with much cumbersome equipment will be furnished to some above-the-knee veteran amputees beginning in February, Veterans Administration surgeons announced today.

The leg was designed mainly by Prof. Howard D. Eberhart, University of California mechanical engineer, and Dr. Verne T. Inman, an orthopedic surgeon at the medical school.

In principal the idea is not new, having been used to a limited extent by German surgeons during World War II. The hollow top of the appliance into which the leg stump fits is made of wood and light metal, and is airtight. A vacuum keeps the appliance in place.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

THE HOLLYWOOD MOGULS are faced by four considerations:

1—Many men of talent, openly Communist or suspected of Communist or fellow-traveler connections, cannot be dismissed without considerable financial loss; in a strict business sense, these "talents" represent capital investments.

2—Should they dismiss men or women with some accusation of Communist affiliations, they might encounter expensive lawsuits, particularly as some judges who may know law but lack common sense, have restricted the use of the appellation beyond all reason.

3—One studio might wipe away the breed only to find that some other studio hires the fellow upon whom millions have already been spent in advertising and build-up.

4—They have to do something to overcome an unfavorable public opinion which is beginning to show in the financial statements.

James M. Cain, who sponsored the Writers Authority and who is on the executive board of the Screen Writers Guild, has faced this problem with complete frankness. He brushes aside the personal attacks on those who have criticized the Communists in Hollywood in the following clear statement:

"Phonies or not, these gentlemen say we are loaded with Communists, and whether we like it or not, this is true. As we are now constituted, the party line is more important to certain members commanding a majority of the executive board than the interests of the membership, and leftist propaganda more important to the 'screen writer' than material of interest to writers."

HIS CIRCULAR was issued in support of Sheridan Gibney as head of the Screen Writers Guild. The election will take place, I understand, before this column can appear, but from the standpoint of public interest, it is important to note that some writers have more courage than most management—and such writers take greater risks as they have more to lose. Cain says:

". . . And it (selecting a new board) is the only way the Guild can recapture confidence. For let me make this clear: If the Moscow road has left many writers without confidence in the Guild, so they wouldn't trust it with copyrights or anything else, I am one of them.

"We can only enjoy confidence by earning it. And no confidence will ever be earned by compelling the many to accept, and pay for convictions held by the few."

Hollywood is in the entertainment business. It should not be in the business of propaganda for anybody, even for the government of the United States. If the government has propaganda to do, it should do its own, at its own expense.

CERTAINLY, the buyer of a ticket to a movie wants entertainment, not a trickily arranged barrage upon the mind of the purchaser. If a man pays for something, he is entitled to get what he pays for, not for a masquerade of what he wants, with an intellectual gimmick thrown in.

That is crooked. It is false pretense.

It is also not only a question of pictures. Hollywood spends millions of dollars building reputations. Some of the actors, writers, etc., are worthy persons in the sense that they possess skills in their vocations.

Others are not. They are voices, mannerisms, figures, manikins directed in detail, incapable themselves of articulating an emotion. For one reason or another they have become box office attractions. They have been built into a synthetic reputation.

So it is with writers, music writers and others, some of whom are capable but otther have acquired little knacks valuable to pictures but making them neither students of politics, of history, of sociology, of philosophy, of anything except their little knacks.

YET, BECAUSE of the millions spent to build the box office value of their names—often even their names are selected by management to facilitate box office attractiveness—these personalities become a front for wickedly subversive organizations.

Their names and faces, widely advertised, synthetic ally made important to sell tickets to movie houses, become useful to such organizations to attract to them innocent persons to associate not with the movie folks but with the horrible agents of alien governments.

That is the real danger in Hollywood. And that house has to be cleaned by its inhabitants, or having become a pest, it will have to be cleaned by someone else.

THE TRUTH WILL OUT

WITHOUT PREJUDGING anybody, what Senator Ferguson's committee has disclosed is that something funny was going on behind the battle lines.

Thus far, all the personalities have called each other liars and one man's word is as good as another's without corroborative evidence.

Nor must we assume that only these particular persons are to blame for seeking to make an honest or dishonest dollar out of the war. There must have been thousands who took advantage of our national distress and urgency.

Some people are like that.

They put the dollar above God and Country.

The important thing is that it should all come out, that nobody should be sacrosanct.

Under the rules of evidence, designed to protect even the criminal, it is often difficult to get at facts such as these. And those rules of evidence must be retained in the courts of law so that the wheels of justice grind evenly.

But there are matters which come well within the province of the investigatory powers of Congress which bring the truth to the surface and then it is up to those who administer the law to act.

That is how we got to know about Teapot Dome.

That is how we smashed the Money Trust.

That is how we protect our Army and Navy from becoming the football of politics.

That is how instance after instance of subversive activity has been disclosed.

And now, that is how we shall come to know about war frauds.

Maybe Congressional committees are rough on individuals, some of them innocent individuals.

But the innocent will survive and their true character be recognized, while the guilty are tried in courts of law and punished.

Many years ago, the large corporations had a way of having their own private Senators who served them rather than the people. And there was nothing that could be done about it in the courts of law.

So William Randolph Hearst went to Ohio and read correspondence between John Archbold, vice-president of the Standard Oil Company, and Joseph Foraker, United States Senator from Ohio which proved that the powerful Foraker was really not representing Ohio but Standard Oil.

That created a furore and finished the career of Foraker and changed the nature of the Senate.

Sometimes it has to be done that way.

The truth must come out.

THE SILENT GUEST

LET NO New England home be without a Silent Guest on next Thanksgiving Day.

The Silent Guest will be unable to sit down at your holiday, traditionally groaning with good things to eat. But you cannot fail to enjoy his company as you dispense your hospitality.

You may invite your Silent Guest to your holiday feast by merely sending a check or money order, equivalent to the cost of his entertainment—or more, to the national organization that has so happily conceived this plan for helping to relieve the hunger of hundreds of thousands who are suffering its pangs today in Europe.

As announced by Gov. Bradford in his Thanksgiving Day proclamation in Plymouth yesterday, the organization is American Silent Guest, Inc., with headquarters in Pilgrim Hall, Plymouth, where the first Thanksgiving Day was celebrated by the colonists in 1623.

Your contribution is then turned over to the Co-operative for American Remittances to Europe. CARE provides the food and mails it to the distressed countries of Europe. You may designate the country and you will receive an acknowledgment from the family who receives the food—your Silent Guest for Thanksgiving or Christmas.

O sleep, why dost thou leave me?
Why thy visionary joys remove?
O sleep, again deceive me,
To my arms restore my wandering love —CONGREVE.

THE HIGHLY TOUTED musical "Allegro," the Theater Guild's two million dollar beauty, is apparently something short of a sensation. But the long-shot musical "High Button Shoes" is the best patronized show in New York. My musical show experience goes back to Ina Claire in "The Quaker Girl," but I have never seen a musical I enjoyed more than this "High Button Shoes." It has everything a show with music should have; catchy tunes, good voices, clever dancing, beautiful women and in Phil Silvers and Joey Faye two of the drollest comics I have shrieked with laughter at. Also, something very unusual for these days happened the night I was there The audience left whistling tunes from the show.

PASSING BY: Frank Fay. Highly versatile actor and entertainer. Did you know Frank was once a Shakespearean actor? That he appeared with Sir Henry Irving's company in "The Merchant of Venice?" It's a fact. And if you think it isn't, put up your stogie . . . Lou Little. Columbia football mentor. Lou is the Adolphe Menjou of sportdom. At last report he had 43 suits, 18 overcoats, 37 pairs of shoes, 296 made-to-order shirts and 516 neckties.

Lou Little

ASIDES: So more food is being sent from this country to France and Italy. I suggest the report that food packages for England are being sold in Italy be investigated . . . Belgium is the most prosperous country in Europe; one of the most prosperous in the world in fact. Among other things, Belgium's way of government features free enterprise. Suggest to your Congressman that he check closely on Belgium's ideas. Get the old boy on the phone.

HATS: "Hats are considered by women to be a distinct asset in the business and professional world," writes Kenneth Hopkins, the internationally known chapeau expert. "When most Hollywood actresses sit in conference as to their contracts they invariably wear hats. Newspaperwomen wear hats while seated working at their typewriters. Women lawyers try to wear hats in court. A hat she likes gives a woman confidence. The wearing of one also seems to do something to the man the woman is talking to. Makes him easier to handle. A hat can be a tremendous emotional outlet for women. Men have no such outlet in the unimaginative drab hats they wear. That is why I am firmly convinced there are more men than women in our booby hatches."

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q—Was Barbara Stanwyck a floor show girl at Texas Guinan's night club? A—Yes, sir. Her name was Ruby Stevens then. Q—Name the player of the title role in the first film version of "The Miracle Man" or forward stogie. A—Stogie on way. A tough one to lose. I knew the grand old actor who played this part personally but I can't think of his name.

SECRETARIES: A secretary sitting on the lap of her boss continues to appear as part of many a pictured jest. I have had secretaries since I was 22. So far I have never had a secretary on my lap. Well, anyway, not my secretary. And not during business hours. That it could be a highly enjoyable way of passing a dull afternoon at the office cannot be denied. But it is likely to bring on complications. Men of experience never combine this type of pleasure with business. I believe most secretaries have a somewhat similar view of the situation.

SOMETHING NEW: A recent invention makes it possible to eliminate the headlight glow of automobiles. With this arrangement the driver can see the road ahead clearly, but the oncoming car sees his light as a dim blue glow. Plastic screens are involved in the invention. All automobiles should be equipped with such lights by law. If it is compulsory to carry a red light on the rear of the car for safety purposes, it should also be compulsory to have a dim type light on the front when necessary.

PLEASE NOTE: There are about a billion chickens in the U. S. A. They suffer from a wide variety of ailments. So that man who started a drug store in Petaluma, Cal., exclusively for medical preparations for chickens seems to have had a brilliant idea. Also, in this country are three million mules, seven million horses, twenty-six million cows, thirty-eight million sheep, fifty-seven million hogs and eighty-one million cattle. All these animals have their periods of illness too. So if you can originate, or become connected with the originator of, some good and effective animal medicines you may make yourself plenty of the coin of the realm.

"So, you wretch! You've been to the races again!"

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate

NEW YORK, Nov. 21—Danny Kaye, Frank Sinatra and Leo Durocher present a composite problem that simply must be disposed of with justice when the boys of maturing generations are drafted for universal military training. Kaye was rated 4-F and excused on medical grounds, but his local draft board, in subsequent correspondence, refused to let him go overseas as an entertainer for the USO with the remark that his "mental attitude" did not recommend him as a morale-builder. This was a wonderful war for psychiatrists. They argue a plausible line and if you recognize them at all, if you do not keep them on the far side of a deadline, they will be in your lap and in your hair and you will never be able to draft any man who even says loud noises make him nervous, that the sight of a nose-bleed makes him faint or that he feels anxious.

Westbrook Pegler

THERE WERE between 350,000 and 400,000 deferments for psychiatric reasons. Many of these individuals were useless for any military service. Idiots and low-grade morons would be a detriment rather than an asset. But the medical officers and the civilian medical advisers drifted off into a foggy state from which we got back communiques laying it down that the physical and the mental were inseparable and overlapping and, finally, that a man who was just plain scared was suffering from a physical impairment as real as a broken leg, subject to no control by the patient. Stonewall Jackson cured it with bayonets, but now it is doctor's business.

The conclusion was reached by some administrators of the draft that all of us were more or less nuts and that if all persons who were legitimate prey of the psychiatrists were excusable there would have been no army or navy. Gen. George S. Patton himself was as dizzy as a Dervish by psychiatric standards, if this cult of the queers has any standards, and might have been ruled out and restricted to blubbering silly sounds into a microphone like Danny Kaye.

SINATRA'S excuse was a punctured eardrum, and the Brooklyn baseball club, which employs Durocher, states that he had the same trouble. Trouble might be the wrong word for it in view of the inconvenience that it spared them. Sinatra was not only well within the draft age but a self-elected "leader" of American youth, particularly of young girls. He gave $7500 to Roosevelt's fourth-term campaign fund and lunched with him at the White House. Any suspicion that this political contribution was influential in the decision of the doctors which finally excused from military service a young man with an income second or third in the amusement world, and a pugnacious attitude toward Nazis in stateside saloons and sandwich wagons, is the product of your own mind.

Some authority had decided that certain eardrum cases should be rejected. The problem of the doctor then became simply one of deciding whether this or that fellow's condition made him unacceptable. The bright idea back in the beginning was to save the government the expense in later years of pensioning men with chronic ear trouble and complications who were predisposed by a condition existing when they were drafted. The purpose was to save money eventually, and immediately to save hospital beds in the service. Such ears are sensitive to colds and infection. They are equally sensitive in civilian status.

DUROCHER is not merely healthy but a professional athlete and robust. He was physically superior to about 90 per cent of the young draftees and volunteers. He could lick a roomful of most of them then when they were skinny striplings and he was a mature man with years of physical training.

Some physical conditions are legitimate grounds for exemption. But many of the eardrum exemptions of the recent war were granted to men who could have been put to very useful Army and Navy jobs where they would not have been imposed on. To be sure, if Sinatra and Durocher had spent a few weeks in mudholes in winter, they might have had complications, but so did thousands of less wealthy and less hardy young men. Shells, bullets and bombs cause complications, too.

The universal plan must be a fair plan, excusing only those with genuine physical impairments. And the way to commissions should be through the ranks for all boys of draft age.

An unexpected visit is paid to five-year-old Peggy Bennett, of Titusville, N. J., by Santa Claus himself during a pre-Christmas party for the child who is feared to be going blind. A Christmas tree, with all the decorations, toy record-player, dolls and other toys and gifts, including $300 in cash, were presented to the child by members of the Union Fire Company who sponsored the affair. Doctors give little hope that the child's sight can be saved.

Editor's Choice

The three costumes above, selected by Ruth Mugglebee, Boston American-Record-Advertiser Fashion Editor, are included in the trousseau of 25 costumes presented to honeymooning Princess Elizabeth by the New York fashion industry. The Pauline Trigere-designed lovely pale blue wool dress (above, left), its frontal closing fastened with whimsical gold hooks and eyes . . . its long tight sleeves and V-neck . . . is a preference of the Princess. The Maurice Rentner-designed suit (center) features Gothic arch pockets and gored skirt . . . while the country greatcoat (at top, right) is ideal for comfort from the winds blowing across the moors. The Monte-Sano creation features wide rolled collar, full back, belted at waistline, and roomy pockets. Replicas of these costumes are available in Boston.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, NOV. 21, 1947

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (INS)—Well, I had to be here on the ground floor to hear that Jack Warner is the lucky guy who gets "The Rope" and Alfred Hitchcock to direct it. (Bet you didn't know I knew that, Jack!)

I also hear that James Stewart gets the starring part and it may be made in England, although I am not too sure about that. However, if Hitchcock makes it, it's possible. The deal was just closed.

I thought Metro had bought the film rights and were angling for Gregory Peck, who played it on the stage in La Jolla last summer—but it seems both Hitchcock and "The Rope" go to the Warner Freres.

THERE'S MORE news from Warners. This beehive of activity is surprising, as this studio was definitely taking it easy when I left Hollywood.

Eleanor Parker

Anyway, Jack has talked Eleanor Parker into making another movie before the birth of her baby. It's the completely revamped, musical version of the old hit, "One Sunday Afternoon"—yes, the same plot Warners made years ago with Jimmy Cagney and Ann Sheridan, but dressed up with new tunes and twists.

You can bet it will start in a hurry—Dec. 15 to be exact—so producer Jerry Wald and Raoul Walsh, the director, can shoot all Eleanor's scenes before it is too obvious that the stork is on the way.

DON'T FALL for the talk there is a feud on between Vic Mature and Richard Widmark, the two good-looking tough guys on the 20th lot. Vic and Widmark, who are a mutual admiration society, both go into "Yellow Sky," an off-the-beaten-path western William Burnett just sold to 20th for $50,000.

It's about seven bandits who rob a bank and take refuge in a ghost town after the Civil War. The proverbial law and order doesn't get them—they just kill themselves off one by one with their fussin', feudin' and fightin'. Lamarr Trotti produces.

MRS. JOSEPH PATTERSON, Loretta King (Kate Cameron) and I chatted about Chicago over the luncheon table. It was great fun reminiscing about the days when Mrs. Patterson, as Mary King, was so kind to all aspiring newspaper writers and helped many an ambitious girl with good advice.

Mary was very young herself at that time. She is still fiction editor of the New York Daily News because she hates being idle. Alice Sheridan, associate editor of Cosmopolitan Magazine, and Mary talked so entertainingly of the new books and new authors. Margaret Sangster, novelist and writer, the other luncheon guest, is an intelligent and delightful woman, and so attractive.

CHATTER IN NEW YORK: If the Duke and Duchess of Windsor are unhappy over not having been invited to Princess Elizabeth's wedding they certainly don't act it. I was dashing into the revolving door at the Waldorf and they were dashing out with three dogs following them, laughing and apparently in high spirits.

I am told that when the Duke abdicated to marry Wallis he knew he could never again attend a royal function, so he was quite prepared when he and the American-born duchess were not invited.

SNAPSHOTS of New York and Hollywood collected at random: Whats this about Ann Sothern and Jack Carson being the newest two-est around Hollywood? They're Ciroing nightly. Clare Boothe Luce arrives in Hollywood Monday to be house guest of the Darryl Zanucks. She's adapting "Screwtape Letters" for the head man, you know.

Ann Sothern

Annabella's Rue de la Paix look had the New York girls at Richard Gully's party gasping in admiration. Her coat was one of the new tight-at-the-waist affairs, her hat a poke bonnet tied under the chin, and her dress a satin tufted skirt with hand embroidered flowers.

Mrs. Gully, so charming, has completely won all Richard's friends and the party they gave me at the River Club was one of the best I attended in New York. So nice to see Mary Duncan Sanford and Laddie, who came in from the country to see me.

Irene Dunne, making her first New York appearance, looked very smart. I told her she definitely had "the new look," wearing a tight beige bodice and black skirt and a hat with a drooping feather on the side.

Joan Fontaine and Bill Dozier dashed in for a moment on their way to the theater. Joan stays here for a few weeks more, but Bill has to return to Hollywood Tuesday. I don't know how these two will exist apart. Their phone bill will probably be like mine—the English debt.

Doris and Jules Stein, Elyse Hunt, Fefe Ferri, Charles Feldman and Mrs. Robert Kane were in the Hollywood contingent. Mrs. Kane and her sister Lillian (the former Mrs. Sidney Kent, now married to a handsome artist) were two of the prettiest women in the room. As "The White Sisters" they were on the stage here and were very popular.

Had dinner with Mary and Bill Curley, and it's good news that Mary is so much better. Mr. Curley, a very old friend, is boss of the New York Journal American. He and Paul Schoenstein, city editor, have done everything to help me get my column out on time—bless them.

From the coast I hear Una Merkel is stepping out again. Her beau at the Cafe Jay was Fred Ferris, the sports reporter.

And speaking of sports out there, listen to this, Mr. Binford of Memphis: The Los Angeles sports writers entertained Jackie Robinson at the Sports Club, owned by EXAMINER scribe Bob Hunter, in a big shindig.

My Boston

DON'T LET THOSE NEW TELEPHONE NUMBERS MIX YOU UP. You'll get your number whether you dial the new way or the old, in the case of 77 exchanges. The only exceptions to this are when you're calling Watertown, Jamaica, Highlands or Avenue. In all other cases, the third letter of the old system is in the same hole on the dial as the exchange numeral in the new system . . . Charles ("Buddy") Rogers, husband of Mary Pickford, will fly his own plane into Boston next Monday for the preview of "Sleep My Love," which he co-produced . . . Carl Brisson, who comes to the Statler Terrace Room Monday, is bringing his pet, a 3-pound turtle named Gertrude . . . Which reminds us that Gertrude Lawrence said Greer Garson was under Hollywood contract for two and a half years before she was given something to do. In the meantime she went to England and made "Goodby Mr. Chips." Then, Hollywood yelled for her to "hurry up, we're waiting for you."

GOV. BOB BRADFORD got a big kick out of Wednesday's visit to Plymouth where his ancestor, William Bradford, was the second governor of the colony. He reminded reporters that William's diary and "History of Plymouth Plantation" are the greatest sources of information on the Pilgrims . . . The diary, often referred to erroneously as the "Log of the Mayflower," contains a copy of the famous Mayflower Compact, the original of which has been lost . . . Bradford's historical manuscript disappearing from the Old South Church in Boston during the Revolution, was found in Fulham Palace, England, 83 years later. After another 40 years it was brought back to Boston and reposes in the state archives . . . Like everybody else, Bob also got a kick out of the names of some of the Plymouth folk who were impersonated in the Silent Thanksgiving Guest ceremonies: Wrestling Brewster, Love Brewster, Oceanus Hopkins, Humility Cooper and Resolved White . . . Secretary of State Fred Cook, a Plymouth summer resident for 42 years, called attention to the "new look" of the long skirts of the Pilgrim women.

ON THE EVE of the Harvard-Yale game, memory brings back the thrills of the past. And curiously enough the things that seem to stand out, above all others, have to do, not with forward passes or long runs, but with kicking . . . Those five drop kicks we saw Charley Brickley, the Crimson captain, make in the 1913 game, a demonstration of perfect craftsmanship. That 55-yard drop kick by Jim Braden of Yale in 1919, a terrific boot if ever there was one . . . It is often said that Brickley was the only Harvard man who scored in that 15 to 5 victory in 1913. But Frank O'Brien, the Harvard left end, scored two points—for Yale . . . A Yale kickoff hit the Harvard goal post and bounded down to O'Brien, who promptly picked up the ball and scampered back across his own goal line, where he blithely sat on the ball. Frank thought it would be a touchback, giving Yale nothing and Harvard the ball on its own 20 . . . The referee thought otherwise.

'The most thrilling thing, Gwen—I can't even PRONOUNCE what's wrong with me!'

WHEN the Spellmans and their in-laws get together for a reunion, it is like holding a clinic. Dr. Martin Spellman, brother of Cardinal Spellman, told about it at the Statler Terrace Room, where he lunches daily . . . Dr. Spellman is an orthopedic surgeon and physician-in-chief of the Boston Fire Department. His brother, John, his son, Robert, and his daughter, Mrs. Kathleen Spellman Lawrence, are doctors. So is his son-in-law, Robert M. Lawrence . . . The latter's father, John M. Lawrence, and his uncle, Hugh M. Lawrence, also are doctors, making seven in all . . . Incidentally, Dr. Martin Spellman is being urged by his friends to run for mayor of Boston. Thus far he has said, resolutely: "No!"

RANDOM HARVEST: Beauty Editor Ruth Mugglebee tells us (with a laugh) that we encroached on her preserves when we described John Garfield's method of relaxing: back on the floor, feet on a chair. And Ruth proved to us that John actually was practicing the "DuBarry beauty angle" of the Richard Hudnut Salon . . . John got it from Charlie Kurtzman, as we stated, but Hudnut makes it a little easier—let's you put pillows under your hips. How about that, Charlie? . . . Fifty women employes of the Veterans Administration New England branch gave "Peggy" Shea a farewell party at Steuben's Wednesday night. Must be we were right when we said Col. Nance dropped her as his secretary! Yes, she's going to Bill Blake's office.

REMEMBER the chain-letter craze, which was going to make everybody wealthy? Somebody in Veterans Administration headquarters has started a chain letter scheme with the idea of making $2000 as a nest-egg in event of firing . . . One of the recommendations forwarded to Congress this week by the veterans organizations of Massachusetts asks for reduction of personnel in the bigger jobs in the Veterans Administration, especially in the New England branch office . . . Commanders of the Legion, VFW, Amvets, Marine Corps League, Jewish War Veterans and Disabled American Veterans: Did you know there are 30 positions, paying $5000 a year or more, in one branch headquarters division, Co-ordination and Planning, which is supposed to simplify the work?. . . And you probably read in the Washington dispatches that Speaker Joe Martin is heading that investigation of the Boston Veterans Administration offices . . . Gen. Bradley is to leave the VA any minute. It may mean a shakeup here.

THAT BACK DROP used in Noel Coward's "Red Peppers" at the Shubert is a real vaudeville curtain, 35 years old. It is one of 600 old back drops found in a basement in Los Angeles. When the owner died, they were snapped up by a Hollywood dealer for $1 apiece . . . Later Homer Curran moved his scenic studio into the same building and basement. And when he produced "Red Peppers," he paid the dealer $150 for the drop, which might have been his for nothing, if he had moved in sooner . . . Curran built the scenery for all the Noel Coward plays showing here, also for "Lady Windermere's Fan."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—Ah sweah on mah honuh, suh, ah doan know what's happening to ouah fayuh stayut of Miss'sippi. It's done goan an' elected a Senatoe to tayuk Theodoah's place who doesn't spin yahns, tell funny jo-uks, noah pause in his spee-uches foah applause.

Ah declayuh, honey—oh, nu's. I can't keep this up! Damyankee talk will have to suffice, kiddo, if I'm to get anywhere with this job of telling you about Mississippee's brand new Senator, John Cornelius Stennis.

I went up to Capitol Hill to get a gander at this successor to the man Bilbo and found him as unlike his predecessor as the voice that breathed o'er Eden is to a steam caliope.

Let's take a few of the surface differences first. He is 46 to Bilbo's 69. He is 5 feet 11, weighs 165 pounds and is thin as a lath. Again a contrast to the man who was short and bulged out in all directions.

Sen. Stennis, elected to fill Bilbo's five unexpired years in a special election that saw him fighting four other Democrats including Rep. John Rankin, is so soft-spoken you have to listen carefully to hear all the words. There isn't a dime's worth of oratorical bluster in his whole system.

Nevertheless he can make speeches for hours without losing his voice.

He attributes this to a set of cast-iron lungs developed back in 1923 when he was cheer leader of Mississippi State University, then Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical College.

"Our principal yell was quite a test of staying power," he said. "It took endurance."

"How did it go?" I asked. "I have always wanted to hear a U. S. Senator blast forth with a college yell."

Sen. Stennis went to the door of his temporary office—of which more later—and after carefully peering up and down the corridor, closed it. The suite then erupted into a screech like this:

"Rocker chicker boom!
Rocker chicker boom!
Rocker chicker, Rocker chicker,
Boom, boom boom, boom!
Rip rah ree
Mississippi, Mississippi A. and M. C.!"

HIS ALMA MATER'S big yell has changed now, Sen. Stennis added, to make it a straight defensive weapon against the rival University of Mississippi, Mississippi U.'s yell is: "Give 'em hell Mississippi, give 'em hell!" So Mississippi State has met the challenge with: "Go to hell, ol' Mississippi, go to hell!"

(I would like to interject a parenthetical note for the benefit of my mother. It ain't me that's saying them bad words, ma; it's them loose-living folks down in Miss'sippi).

SEN. STENNIS said he is not going to rant about "white supremacy" or other inflammatory stuff, for which his predecessor was noted.

"I'm not going to raise the subject at all," he said. "I hope the issue never arises while I am in office."

Sen. Stennis excused himself for a moment to run across the corridor and exchange a few words with his colleague from Mississippi, Sen. James O. Eastland.

"This is another change," he said on his return. "It's the first time in 12 years one Senator from Mississippi has been on speaking terms with the other." (Bilbo and Eastland ignored each other's very existence).

I FOUND Sen. Stennis bewilderedly ensconced in a corner of the public works committee's suite.

"I won't know what office I'm to get," he explained, "until 95 other senators make up their minds. I have absolutely last choice. Sen. Bilbo's old four-room suite is open, but I hear that Sen. Tobey of New Hampshire may want it—and Tobey's three-room suite, in turn, can be spoken for first by any of the remaining 94."

I asked Sen. Stennis how he kept so thin, and he said: "I had a bit of a stomach but you lose weight electioneering in Mississippi. I made as many as five speeches a day."

He said he decided at the outset that the serious, quiet note was the best approach to his people.

"I opened every speech," he said, "By saying: 'I have no jokes to tell, nor yarns to spin,' and I violated another old Southern custom by not pausing significantly at intervals for applause."

The man's a nonconformist, I tell you.

Red Flannels Seen on Way Back

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (INS) —The men are getting a new look but it doesn't show.

It was revealed today the fellows are switching underwear.

The nation's clothing manufacturers, aware that men want styles as modish as the Gibson Girl revival, are stepping up production of the union suit.

If the switch in vogue goes far enough, clothing liberals predict itching red flannels once again will be all the rage, creating what we'll call the "new feeling."

Conservative producers aren't predicting the one-piece-button-down-the-front affair will regain the popularity it knew in the "roaring twenties."

But the census bureau declares present demand is far beyond supply and manufacturers are distributing on an allotment basis.

Mirror Guards U. S. Atom Office

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP) —The Atomic Energy Commission is doing it with a mirror—guarding its Contitution ave., headquarters from night time prowlers, that is.

The cylindrically shaped reflecting device has been placed about six feet from the front door.

The idea, according to Security Chief Bryan LaPlante is to give a guard standing inside the door a full view of the block-long building front to thwart any effort to rush the door when it is opened to admit someone with legitimate business.

Any person seeking after hours admission to the brilliantly floodlighted building must identify himself to the guard before the door is opened.

Colin Kelly's Son Sees FD Letter

CHESTER, Pa., Nov. 21 (AP)—Colin P. Kelly, 3d, 7, got his first first glimpse of the letter which probably will send him to West Point in 1956.

The boy, son of an heroic American flier killed early in World War II, saw the letter aboard the Freedom Train which visited Chester.

The letter was written by President Roosevelt on Dec. 17, 1941, urging Congress to appoint the youngster—then a year old—to West Point in 1956.

The boy lives with his mother, now Mrs. J. Watson Pedlow, of Chester.

Electrical Wizard Lifer to Get Parole

CRANSTON, R. I., Nov. 21—With the highest recommendations from authorities at Rhode Island State Prison, George Baptiste, 46, convicted 15 years ago of the second degree murder of his sweetheart, will be paroled in the nar future.

Legal complications had previously blocked attempts of the nationally-recognized electrical wizard to obtain a pardon. He will appear before the Parole Board next week.

Baptiste, sentenced to a 35-year term in 1932, has through hours of study in his prison cell risen to a position of eminence in the world of electricity and electronics. He applied this knowledge inside the prison by installing a radio and loudspeaker system and fitting out an electric eye detector—work which saved the State thousands of dollars.

Baptiste, a former Greater Boston plumber and radio technician, was found guilty of the slaying of Isabel Wilbur.

1040-Pound Steer Nets Boy $5200 Check

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21 (AP)—Clifford Teets, Jr., young Rochester, Pa., future farmer of America, learned a little about the high cost of living today—to his delight.

Source of Fatal Rifle Shot Sought

RUPERT, Vt., Nov. 21—Apparently shot by a stray bullet while hunting with his father in Kent's Hollow, Vincent Greene, 16, of Hebron, N. Y., died in an ambulance en route to a hospital after his father had given the boy first aid and carried him two miles through the woods to the highway.

State's Atty. James Holden of Bennington and Deputy Sheriff James Sheldon began a probe of the shooting as State Pathologist Dr. Charles Whitney performed an autopsy.

The victim's father, Herbert Greene, told police they were out hunting when the boy was struck in the left leg by a bullet. Greene said he did not see who fired the shot. A police search of the area failed to disclose trace of the unseen hunter.

Model Duplicates Elizabeth's Gown

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (INS)—Peggy Tromly, 24, will walk to the altar next Thursday in an exact reproduction of Princess Elizabeth's wedding gown because her co-workers did "30 days' work in a single night."

The pretty, dark-haired girl, a model in a New York bridal costume firm, will be married in the Lexington, Ky., Presbyterian church.

She told an interviewer from the British Kemsley newspapers:

"I'm going to change the bridesmaids' costumes, too, and have them like those of the girls who attended Elizabeth's wedding.

The elaborate beadwork took up most of the night, then 20 seamstresses took over the marathon task so the starry-eyed model could have her dream fulfilled.

Argentine President Urges Foes Join New League

BUEUOS AIRES, Nov. 21 (AP)—President Juan D. Peron, opening headquarters of the New League for Labor's Rights, offered peace to his opponents and called upon "all men of good will" in all parties to join the League. He said he did not want the League to become a "political movement."

"We should pardon insults, errors and injuries and help men rectify their errors and join the movement," he said. Urging tolerance toward adversaries, he said "words are more persuasive than rifles or clubs."

Flying Cadets, Dropped, Can Resume Training

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—Some of the aviation cadets whose training ended abruptly before they received their wings because of cutbacks in the wartime program may start taking flying instructions with the Air Force.

An announcement today estimated that about 35,000 men had qualified for training or were awaiting assignment to classes when the cadet program was reduced in 1944 and cut back still further in the following year.

BARMAIDS OUT

DETROIT, Nov. 21 (AP)—A three-judge federal court, in a 2-1 decision, declined to interfere with a state's privilege to make laws for "protection of women."

As a consequence, a woman can't legally be a barmaid in Michigan unless she's the wife or daughter of the proprietor.

Four women, all bar owners or barmaids, had gone to court under the 14th Amendment to fight a state law which forbids their activities with the foaming flagon.

Reno's Monte Carlo Boys Quit $8000 Ahead After 3 Days

RENO, Nov. 21 (INS)—Two 23-year-old University of Chicago graduates wallowed in the lap of unaccustomed luxury today, contemplating a bankroll of about $8000 amassed in three days of play at Reno's roulette wheels.

R. Walford, medical graduate, and Albert Hibbs, who holds a master's degree in mathematics, broke off their playing when they hit a losing streak at Harold's club.

At one point, they said, they were $13,000 ahead.

In a rather vague attempt to explain their system of beating Roulette, Walford said:

"We quit when our luck began to change when he failed to win a bet in more than 100 consecutive rolls."

They had played 40 hours—spelling each other on eight-hour shifts—at Harold's club after beginning at the Palace club with a stake of $300.

They estimated they won about $2000 at Harold's and the remainder at the Palace.

The Palace management made it rather uncomfortable for them, changing the ball constantly, switching wheels on them and shifting dealers, they said.

Hibbs and Walford conferred for some time before quitting at Harold's and said they made their final decision on the flip of a coin.

But they would not admit they were through in their attempt to break the bank and said they "might play again."

Curley Decision Within 2 Weeks

Whether Mayor Curley will be released from the federal correctional institution in Danbury, Ct., by Christmas will be decided in Washington within two weeks, it was learned today.

The mayor, just turned 73, will appear before a federal parole board next week at the institution. Chairman of the board is Daniel M. Lyons of Dorchester, a former assistant district attorney of Suffolk County.

The board will return to the capital and announce the following week whether the mayor will be released on parole at the conclusion of the minimum portion of his six-to-18-month sentence on mail fraud charges.

The mayor has lost 23 pounds while a prisoner and spends most of his time reading or working in the prison library, his wife said after visiting him for a half hour on his birthday.

Many Socialites to See Game

By BETTY ALDEN

THE TROLLEY RIDE out to the Yale Bowl from downtown New Haven is a colorful part of every Eli football game. Hence it is not surprising that Harvard-Yale fans around here are nostalgic about reports that the tradi tional trolleys are to be replaced by modern streamlined buses and tomorrow may be their last chance to ride street cars to the game.

They are the old fashioned open cars like the ones today's fair, fat and 40 set used to ride to Norumbega as youngsters. And they're a gay sight on football days, jam packed with fans inside and out and everyone singing college songs to the lusty accompaniment of the clanging bell.

New Haven will be gay for tomorrow's game. A special New Haven R. R. Pullman train will take 10 cars full of fans from here and many more will go over the road in time for fraternity luncheons and reunions at Mory's, the restaurant fabled in the Wiffenpoof Song.

AMONG THE many Harvard-Yale rooters from here will be Dr. and Mrs. Langdon Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Weston Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lapham, who will be house guests of Connecticut friends, and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace L. Pierce 2d, who are to join her brother at a Yale luncheon before the game. Markie Pierce cheers for both teams because her husband is a Harvard graduate and her brother an Eli.

Judge and Mrs. W. Lloyd Allen of West Newton will be cheering for Yale. They are visiting his classmate, Ralph Clark of Derby, Ct., who turns the tables and visits them when the game is in Cambridge. Also in their family party will be Mrs. Mary Allen Breakell and Winship Allen of West Newton, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Allen of New York who will join them for dinner at Mory's.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Loring Reed of Dedham are leaving today to see their son, Howard, play for Harvard in the Junior Varsity game. Jane Kennard, George Seabury, who played for Yale, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Seabury, Jr., of Weston, who are on their honeymoon, will also be at the game.

THE BIG DAY for which Vincent Club members, the staff and trustees of Vincent Memorial Hospital have long been working is next Tuesday, Nov. 25. As a result of their tireless efforts and financial support the new Vincent Memorial Hospital will be dedicated that afternoon at 4 o'clock.

4 Dead, 6 Wounded in Day Of Holy Land Shooting

JERUSALEM, Nov. 21 (INS) —Four Arabs were killed and at least six persons injured in Arab-Jewish shootings in the Holy Land during the past 24 hours while British evacuation operations progressed under a strict security blackout.

Five Jews were wounded last night in an attack on a bus near Jaffa. The action was believed to be a retaliation for an early morning action — allegedly by Stern gang members — in which four Arabs died and a fifth was injured.

Stassen Urges South To Build Own GOP

ORLANDO, Fla., Nov. 21 (AP) —Harold Stassen urged Southerners tonight to move toward two-party government but with emphasis on their own views and traditions. At a GOP-sponsored meeting, the avowed presidential candidate declared:

"You need not echo the position of Republican parties of Northern states. You can be— indeed you should be—a Republican party of the South."

Quiz Sets for History Test Sent to 45 Schools in City

To each and every Boston public and parochial high school was delivered today examination papers for the Fifth Annual Hearst Newspapers American History Awards competition which will be conducted Tuesday.

The quiz sheets, numbering six pages were distributed under the direction of the History Awards Committee and the History Awards Editor of the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser.

A total of 10,000 examination papers will be delivered to history students in more than 45 schools throughout the city.

The envelopes, containing questions pertaining to early American history during the years between 1781 and 1825, including the Constitution of the United States, will be delivered directly to headmasters of public high schools and sister superiors in the parochial system.

All envelopes are sealed and are not to be opened until examination [illegible]

The test, which will determine Boston's history champs is comprised of a series of "true or false" questions involving quotations, biography, dates, identification, chronology, matching and judgment.

Following the exams, heads of history departments in each school competing, will grade the papers of their respective school and forward the top three to either Supt. Arthur L. Gould of Boston Public Schools or Rev. Cornelius T. H. Sherlock, director of parochial schools.

A board of history examiners comprised of leading educators and historians will select winners for the 25 prizes to be awarded locally.

The top three winners selected in the all city finals will be eligible to compete in the national finals to be held in Faneuil Hall, Inc. 19

Bubble Bath in New Form

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

PARDON US for getting personal . . . but is your bath a plain, daily habit or a pretty-lady ritual? Do you perform the usual and customary ablutions automatically . . . or do you try to inject a little luxury in doing "what comes naturally?"

MERRY golden-linked strands . . . matched by the preciously gilded, yet pensive golden eardrops make this new necklace created by Monet reminiscent of the year gone by. They capture the joyful yet reflective moods of the holiday season. And the model who wears them seems so right for them . . . for she appears to know the full value of what it means to present a highly feminine, alluringly charming appearance . . . predicated, indisputably, on the basic but beautiful bath ritual.

Actually, what we are trying to say is this. Do you simply jump into a warm tub, soap the wash cloth or brush and scrub and then quickly jump out . . . all in a matter of a few minutes, more or less? Or do you leisurely solicit every ounce of goodness which the bath ritual has to offer . . . particularly when it is a sea of iridescent bubbles, delicately aroma-ed?

There's a terrific psychological angle in the fragranced bubble bath. It relieves tension . . . it is extremely feminine . . . actually it perfumes the disposition, if you get what we mean.

We're quite taken with a new presentation of the bubble bath. Heretofore . . . you shoveled out a little powder into the tub and watched the water whip into a million little soap bubbles. Now comes a new idea . . . smartly executed . . . and sponsored by a company which for years has endorsed the bubble bath as the luxury bath of all times.

FOUR FRAGRANCES IN EACH PACKAGE

In a box of 20 small packages are contained five individually wrapped containers of four fragrances each. There's lilac, apple blossom, carnation and pine. Each miniature package is a bath dose . . . the proper and prescribed amount to make your bath a mighty pleasant experience.

The fragrances are true . . . and really delightful. The assorted fragrances make it doubly inviting . . . for they enable a gal to run the gamut of lovely scents day in and day out. And the whole box containing the 20 little packages costs only one dollar.

Five cents a bath . . . for such a treat and enjoyment . . . is very little cost for making a habit a ritual . . . You'll find these beauty tidbits react instantaneously to the touch of water. Dropped into the tub just below the force of the water as it comes from the faucet they'll whip up a tubful of bubbles lavishly and luxuriously.

It is a little thing like these new bubble bath packages which add up to a whole personality of charm. Simple as it is . . . it will inflate your ego with wonderful self-sufficiency . . . give you that poised confidence without which no girl is ever a success.

For the name of this new bubble bath package of 20 four-fragranced assortment, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, any day except Sunday, or write to me at the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Delicious Mince Pie Can Be Served at Any Time

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

THE THANKSGIVING SEASON is one of festive foods. A tradition among the many traditional foods served at this time is full-flavored mincemeat pie. It's not necessary to wait until the holidays themselves to serve this favorite of pies—in fact, such a pie is an excuse for rushing the season. The homeliest of family meals takes on something of an air when sparkled with the thought of a richly-flavored pie such as this.

Here is an economical dinner menu which features mince pie for dessert:

MENU

Stuffed Flank Steak
Brown Gravy
Baked Potatoes Harvard Beets
Biscuits Butter or Margarine
Head Lettuce Salad
Thousand Island Dressing
Mince Pie
Milk Coffee

Guests for tea, or those who come a-calling casually, will leave your house in satisfaction if they've tasted of a glorious pie. For variation, you might bake the pie in the form of tiny tartlets, using muffin tins as the pie pans.

Individual pies in small-sized pie pans are another idea, while for still a third, bake the mincemeat in a square cake pan lined with the tender, flavorful crust. When cooled, cut into squares. For yet another idea, cut rounds of pastry with a cookie cutter, then bake on a cooky sheet. Place two of the pastry rounds together with a mincemeat filling—these are especially fine as tea-time fare.

Some folks say mince pie is not mince pie at all unless it has a rich hard sauce to accompany it, either an actual sauce or a stiff whipped kind. Others, of course, like to savor their pie without any topping at all. For a simplified topping that is suitable for all members of the family, flavor whipped cream with a bit of lemon juice.

MINCE PIE

2 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. salt
2-3 cup shortening
4 to 6 tbsp. water
2 1-lb. cans mincemeat (3 to 3½ cups)
1 cup diced apples
½ tsp. grated lemon rind
2 tbsp. lemon juice
Sugar

Sift flour and salt together. Cut in shortening until particles are about the size of dried peas. Add cold water a little at a time, mixing quickly and evenly through flour with a fork until dough just holds in ball. Use as little water as possible. Chill. Line a 9-inch pie pan with one-half of crust. Combine mincemeat, apples, lemon rind and juice, and heat thoroughly. Pour into pie pan. Adjust top crust. Sprinkle with a small amount of sugar and bake in a moderately hot oven (400 deg. F.) for 35 minutes. Makes one 9-inch pie.

HARD SAUCE

1-3 cup butter or margarine
1 cup confectioner's sugar
½ tsp. vanilla extract
1 tbsp. cream

Cream butter until soft; gradually beat in sugar, then cream and vanilla, beating until fluffy. Brandy, rum, sherry or port wine, or maraschino cherry juice may be substituted for cream and flavoring. Pile lightly in serving dish and chill until cold but not hard. Makes ¾ cup sauce, or enough for 4 to 6 servings.

FULL, FREE and high-styled is this stunning "going away" three-piece suit from Adele Simpson's 1948 resort collection. This year's American Fashion Critics Award winner . . . diminutive Adele Simpson injects a lively tempo in her typically American-woman clothes. Combining black and white print with white silk shantung . . . she emphasizes the low-cut, moulded bodice, bow-trimmed for contrast with a built-up waistline skirt and short, short bolero jacket. You can't see it . . . but there's a taffeta petticoat under this costume to keep it from hanging limp around the ankles.—R. M.

Wife Must Stick to Plan

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

IT IS ONLY NATURAL, of course, in any crisis between a husband and wife for the woman to strike every emotional note in the feminine repertoire in an attempt to solve her problem. It is probably too bad that she would be less than human—and certainly less than feminine—if she did not behave in this way.

When it is a matter of a husband who is going out with other women, however, it seems to me that it would be much more effective if a wife could calm herself sufficiently to decide on the attitude she will take and then stick to it.

Take the case of a woman who, after writing me of her husband's continued infidelity, says:

"Miss Fairfax, I have quarreled, I have kept quiet, I have prayed, I have cursed, I have cried, and I have talked to him and pointed out the reasons why he should give up behaving this way. I have told him I was going to leave him and I have told him I was going out with other men, which I was not doing. I have also tried loving him and making more fuss over him. None of it has worked. Do you have any suggestions?"

As I have just been saying, she has probably tried too much, so that her husband takes none of it seriously. He realizes that everything she says or does is not so much what she actually feels and means, but simply a "technique" she has adopted to try and accomplish her purpose. It is especially foolish for any woman to threaten to leave her husband and then fail to make good on the threat.

As I have said before, in a case of this sort, the only thing a woman can do is to decide between the alternatives of staying with her husband and putting up with his unfaithfulness, or leaving him and making a life of her own without him. It may be tragic, but it is nonetheless true, that no man is going to stop any course of action permanently because of outside pressure. The pressure must come from inside himself before it will accomplish anything.

Only the wife herself knows whether she will gain or lose by going or staying. That is what she must decide.

Taxi Hat Solves Feather Problem

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

IT'S TRUE that Lillian Russell got places in her sweeping satin skirts and her trailing ostrich plumes. But Lillian lived in a larger day. Even she would have been hard put to maintain such a pretty pose if she had lived in our tight-packed era when even our costumes must be pared to fit into a closeness of a taxicab or an elevator.

Still, ours is an ingenious age and such problems don't bother our designers for long. Women still love the flattery of trailing feathers on a hat. This is one place where they refuse to be practical. Rather than yield to convenience they have kept their pretty hats. If the hats were too big to get through the door of a taxi, their owners simply removed them and put them back on when the ride was over. A bit complicated and inconvenient, but there you were.

Tatiana du Pleassix, who designed the hat sketched today, has changed all that. Her rolled-off-the-face green velour hat has a high-reaching spray of black feathers. They are attached to a button that can be removed as you enter your taxi and replaced as you exit.

Kennedy Urges Support for Italy

Cong. John F. Kennedy came out for immediate aid for Italy today and declared:

"To the goal of a peaceful and democratic world we must pledge our material resources as we recently pledged the lives of our manhood."

In a speech in Congress, the youthful representative warned:

"I feel that Italy stands in the most perilous position of any country in western Europe. Italy, along with France, has been chosen by the Russians as the initial battleground in the Communist drive to capture western Europe.

"Through the action of this Congress, we can wrest the weapons from Russia's hands. We can help the Italian people achieve democracy and peace."

NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST RETAILER OF FINE FOODS

TESTING HIS LUCK

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa., Nov. 21 (AP)—Cornelius Lusardi, confectioner and fourth ward councilman, will test his luck again today on number 123 and the flip of a coin.

Four years ago he got 123 votes for council, the same number as his opponent, James Fromiller. Lusardi won the toss and the job. Nov. 4 he again tied his opponent, Jesse Hartment, and once more the vote count was 123-all. At noon today, the coin will be tossed again.

Fletcher Likes 'Windermere' Role

Bramwell Fletcher, the Lord Darlington of "Lady Windermere's Fan" now at the Colonial Theater, is an artist of note, and is planning an exhibition of his sketches of the players in the Wilde revival when the company arrives in Chicago the first of the year.

Mr. Fletcher, who is well known in Boston as elsewhere in the United States, says that Lord Darlington is great fun to play, as the character is comparable to what is known today as a "wolf," decked in Wilde's most pungent epigrams, and adhering strictly to the stiff manner of the Victorian age.

"Lady Windermere's Fan" will complete its second week at the Colonial tomorrow and will play there another fortnight.

'FOXES' ON TWIN BILLS

"The Foxes of Harrow," co-starring Rex Harrison and Maureen O'Hara in the 20th Century-Fox screen version of Frank Yerby's best seller, is presently to be seen on the Olympia and Scollay screens. The co-feature is the Don Castle-starring "Roses Are Red."

Plenty of Western Thrills

If it's a good, old rouser of a Western, with galloping horses crowding the screen and recurrent gunfire play momentarily deafening you, tenanting the Paramount and Fenway screens, is your dish of tea.

Starring William Elliott and John Carroll, it concerns a couple of Confederate officers who return to Texas after the war to find the Lone Star State over-ridden by carpetbaggers and criminal-recruited state police.

When Carroll's father is killed by a brutal state police lieutenant, the son goes gunning for him, kills him and hides out in the hills.

This makes Carroll a hero to Texans. To Albert Dekker, the venal police chief, however, he is a challenge to his power. Elliott hits upon a plan for clearing his friend, suggests that if Dekker will promise Carroll a fair trial (knowing no Texas jury could convict him) he'll produce him.

Of course, Dekker pulls the double-cross, invokes martial law intending to have Carroll slain while "escaping." Right here is where one of the big horses-and-gunfire sequences occur, and it is a rip-roaring lulu.

Catherine McLeod, who was engaged to Elliott but discovered at war's end that it was Carroll she loved, accompanies the former to Washington to ask President Grant's intercession. The President appoints Elliott a United States marshal.

Meanwhile Carroll goes Robin Hood and robs a bank, putting himself outside the law's protection. He later sacrifices his own life to save his friend, which gives Republic a chance to go all out on corn for a finale.

Rigging Miss McLeod out in an ill-fitting wig and grandmotherly garb, she is seen posed against a faked background before a statue of her deceased husband, as she tells her grandson that daddy was the only one who did a lot for Texas.

Gala Seven-Act Variety Bill for RKO Boston Fans

By PEGGY DOYLE

The Whirlwinds, those hairbreadth roller-skaters of the nighteries, open the new RKO-Boston stage show, Broadway dancing star Betty Bruce closes it and somewhere in between Hi, Lo Jack and the Dame, recent stars of the Fred Allen show, lift their nationally celebrated voices in song.

For this show-reporting vaudeville patron, these are the choice acts of a seven-act stage bill companioned by the new Monogram release, "Black Gold."

The two men and two pretty girls who are the Whirlwinds must be the fleetest things on wheels as they take those breath-stopping turns on stage and simultaneously keep the thrilled customers on seat's-edge. They are followed by Deval, Merle and Lee, two men and a girl, whose dancing-guyed routine just misses.

Ann Triola, that cute honeypot of a Hollywood comedienne who registered such a hit in RKO's "Without Reservations," sings some comedy numbers handicapped by a gruesome mike. She really doesn't need one. The management is correcting the shrill-making (at the first show) device to the screen beauty's requirements. No doubt her vocalizing of "I've Still Got My Health," "I Said Who," "Can't Help Loving That Man" and "Bald, Repulsive" will be at its customary best when you catch the show.

Hi, Lo, Jack and the Dame clicked with the audience from their opening tune, "Married," right through "Wish I Didn't Love You So," "Cowboy Joe" and "Too Fat Polka."

Betty Bruce, in a swinging, ivory satin ballerina skirt, a glinting hug-me-tight solidly paved with silver paillettes and a bare midriff, looks and dances like a million. The comedy star of Mike Todd's "Up In Central Park" does the soft-shoe number she stopped the show with in Ethel Merman's "Something for the Boys." And now "I'm going to do a classical ballet number to the music of Bach," she told the hep-kids in the front rows, almost scaring them out of their chairs. They needn't have worried . . . the Bruce stepping has the new look.

The singing Don Henry Trio, with their harmonica arrangement of Debussy's "Clair de Lune" and their harmonica version of Spike Jones' Band, pleased. Steve Evans, another nightclub fugitive, does a drunk act and an assortment of audience-type laughs. It was a bit too early in the day for such, I guess.

"Black Gold," starring Anthony Quinn, Ducky Louis and Katherine de Mille in a Cinecolored story of a dark horse Derby winner, has a fine theme that has not been well developed. An Indian befriends a Chinese boy because he, too, believed he had cause to hate all white Americans on the basis of one criminal specimen.

Together, the untutored Indian and his educated wife, who have adopted the boy, comfort him when schoolmates ridicule him for being Chinese. Their love and understanding and the fact that their beloved black mare wins the Derby arouse their respect for the white people they meet (it who know no color lines in men as in horses.

Illogical situations, week dialogue, and what one critic nutshelled as the "Lo, the rich Indian" treatment (oil is discovered on his land and he becomes a millionaire) bar this family film from being the noteworthy one its theme warranted.

Mike Sachs Headlines Howard's Midnight Show

Headed by burlesquee's favorite comedian, Mike Sachs, assisted by Bimbo Davis and Alice Kennedy, a company of 60 performers will present tonight's big midnight show at the Old Howard.

New Ida Lupino Film at Met

At about the time Elisabeth Bergner was appearing in the stage version of Margaret Kennedy's novel, "Escape Me Never," a British-made film of the same name starring Miss Bergner was shown in this country with considerable success.

A dozen years later, Metropolitan Theater audiences are viewing Warners' handsome remake with Ida Lupino as Gemma, the role in which the fragile continental actress was seen to such advantage.

In the current production, Errol Flynn is playing the itinerant composer with the roving eye for a pretty face and Gig Young, his brother, a more serious fellow who has also inherited his father's musical talents.

As you may recall, Gemma, a widowed waif with an infant son, is rescued off the streets by the happy-go-lucky composer. Through a misunderstanding the wealthy parents of the other brother's fiancee believe it is he who is Gemma's protector. They break up the romance, take their daughter to the Dolomites.

Gemma, the baby in her arms, and the brothers follow them to set things right. The heartless brother, flirting with an unknown, lovely girl, keeps a clandestine meeting with her on the night the desperately frightened Gemma's baby dies.

It is Gemma who discovers the girl to be the "broken-hearted" one they were seeking, and it is now she, Gemma, who does the walking-out on love. But the two-timing brother learns in the nick of time of the other girl's stuffy insistence on "nice" living and he flees to his Gemma, who like himself has the heart of a real Bohemian.

Miss Lupino, one of the screen's finest young actresses, is not at her best in this one, dashing about and seeming forever to be in a tizzy. Nor does Flynn ever get inside the character of the irresponsible, laughter-loving Sebastian.

15 Million Pounds U. S. Scrap Due From Reich

FRANKFURT, Nov. 21 (AP)—The U. S. Army said today 135,000,000 pounds of iron and steel scrap collected from 15 U. S. Air Force installations in Germany would be returned to the United States shortly for distribution to manufacturers. The scrap is largely wrecked auto and plane equipment, tubular steel and iron castings.

BOY, 7, HIT BY CAR

Edward Bergh, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leif Bergh of Elmdale st., Dorchester, was under treatment today for injuries received when he was struck by an auto in Adams st., Dorchester.

French Strike Aid 'Threat to U. S.'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—The support of Communist-led strikers by National Maritime Union crew members of two American merchant ships in Marseille, France, was labeled today a potential threat to the economic and military security of the United States, in a letter to State Sec. Marshall by Rep. Fred Busbey (R.) of Illinois.

The refusal of American crews to unload food cargoes not only supports the Communist party line of opposing U. S. aid to Europe but poses a potential threat "to our marine life lines in event of a possible conflict," Busbey wrote.

A copy of the letter was forwarded to Atty.-Gen. Clark.

New Insectide More Powerful Than DDT

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21 (INS)—The American Cyanamid Co. announced today it has developed a new chemical insecticide that is five to 25 times more potent than DDT.

Company researchers told a Philadelphia news conference that no species of insect or minute animal life among those tested had been found resistant to the insecticide in the laboratory.

Maidless Homes In U. S. Predicted

NEW YORK, Nov. 21—One of the major changes in the American way of life will probably be the disappearance of maids from American homes.

High wages and rents, the increasing cost of food, and high taxes are all combining to make maid service in the average American home an almost prohibitive luxury, according to an editorial in the December issue of Good Housekeeping magazine.

"As a consequence, families in future will seek smaller homes, smaller apartments," the editorial states in part. "More and more labor-saving devices will become more and more vital.

"Children and husbands will have to pitch in, learn to care for their own rooms, possibly make their own beds, help with the dishes.

"This seems not at all catastrophic to us; might even make for better family life."

Lanigan W. End Victory Sets Poll Accuracy Mark

Rep. George T. Lanigan of the West End was today certified winner of the City Council contest in Ward 3, with a total of 3211 votes, defeating Councilor Joseph Russo by 751 votes and Michael Bevilacqua, North End storekeeper, by 729 votes.

Election officials checked the votes recorded on voting machines and found that for the first time in the city's election history not a single mistake was made in the original totals.

Mack, Frazee Peddled Stars Before Browns

By JACK CONWAY

DICK MUCKERMAN, owner of the St. Louis Browns, has taken a few pages out of the baseball histories of Harry Frazee, once owner of the Red Sox, and Connie Mack of the Athletics as he sells his star players to the highest bidder. The latest deal found Bob Muncrief and Walt Judnick going to the Cleveland Indians for some ordinary ball players and a bundle of cash.

It is estimated that when Vernon Stephens and Jack Kramer came to the Red Sox Tom Yawkey sweetened the deal, which included seven mediocre ball players, by sending the Browns a check for $250,000. It is believed that before the Browns have completed their various deals they will have picked up $500,000 in cash along with an ordinary lot of ball players.

Muckerman has made his money in the coal and oil business, and he was naturally dissatisfied when the club he purchased two years ago finished in last place this year. Baseball people figure that Muckerman's plan of disposing of his players in deals that are bringing him cash were prompted by a desire to rebuild his club with new talent and at the same time put his treasury in a better position, or his decision to get what he can for his players before possibly selling the franchise of the Browns to a Los Angeles or Baltimore syndicate.

Connie Mack is one of those persons who has voiced strenuous objection to the Browns permitting Stephens and Kramer to come to Boston. Mack says the deal gives the Sox too much power for the 1948 flag race.

Mack Sold His Own Baseball Stars

AFTER THE BRAVES beat the Athletics in four straight straight games in the 1914 World Series, Mack sold most of his star players. The "$100,000 infield" was broken up with "Home Run" Baker going to the Yanks, Jack Barry and Stuffy McInnis coming to the Red Sox, and Eddie Collins going to the White Sox.

Harry Frazee started the break up of the Red Sox when he disposed of Babe Ruth to the Yanks for $125,000. Duffy Lewis, Everett Scott, Sam Jones, Carl Mays, Wally Schang, Leslie Nunamaker, Herb Pennock and other Red Sox stars soon followed Ruth to New York.

It was not until Tom Yawkey came to Postor that the task of rebuilding the Red Sox in a big way got started. Yawkey and Eddie Collins turned to Connie Mack for assistance, and put through the deals for Jimmy Foxx, Lefty Grove, Mike Higgins and Co.

Until Muckerman decided to break up the Browns it has been difficult for clubs in recent years to acquire stars. The Braves got Bob Elliott from Pittsburgh due to the fact the Pirates were eager to get Herman as manager, and he happened to be the property of the Boston club.

Winning ball clubs will seldom let star players go as they realize there is a scarcity of good ball players. This is why ball clubs have given so much attention to their farm systems. They feel they must develop their own talent.

The Cardinals and Yanks used to have the most extensive farm system, but Red Sox, Braves and other clubs now have extensive systems for developing new talent.

Planes Speed Up Sports Travel

SPORTS TRAVEL has been speeded up by planes which makes it possible that the Pacific Coast will eventually have a club in the majors. Ball players are not as adverse to air travel as some of them were a few years ago.

The Pacific Coast would prefer a third major league. The American and National Leagues are opposed to such a plan, but they might consent to Los Angeles or some other Coast city being awarded a franchise if one could be purchased.

Baltimore has made big strides in sports promotions and insists it would be able to support a major league ball club.

The latest baseball deals have created interest in the national pastime. The fact the Sox and Braves have been among the most active clubs seeking new talent has added to local baseball enthusiasm which promises to reach the boiling over point next season when the Joe McCarthy Sox and Billy Southworth Braves open their pennant fights.

Rhode Island Money to Back Zanelli

RHODE ISLAND MONEY will back Ralph Zanelli when he defends his New England middleweight championship against Al (Red) Priest at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden on Monday night. Zanelli won the championship from Priest in a tussle at Providence, and he impressed those persons who saw him in action.

Priest will be in better condition for the Garden bout than when he lost to Zanelli in Providence. He has been training as hard as he did for his winning contests with Tommy Sullivan, and insists he will be at the top of his fighting form when he faces the rugged Zanelli.

'Stronger Than Last Year', Says Harlow at Station

A determined Harvard football team, 38 strong, left South Station this morning bound for New Haven and its traditional clash tomorrow with rival Yale. A total of 227 persons, making up varsity, jayvee, an freshman football and soccer squads, were cheered as they boarded the train.

The team planned to work out in the Yale Bowl this afternoon before journeying to near-by Choate School to spend the night. Coach Dick Harlow was in high spirits about the condition of his players but declined on venturing an opinion on the outcome of the game.

"We're in top shape both physically and mentally," he said. Our spirit in practice sessions this week was the best it's been all year."

Asked about how this year's Harvard team compared with the one that was humbled by the Elis last fall, 27-14, the Crimson mentor replied:

"We've got a stronger club this fall, but we'll miss Moravec. It's the second straight year he has missed the Yale game."

The annual grid battle will be played before the largest crowd that has assembled in the Yale Bowl since 1937. More than 70,000 frenzied rooters will jam into the huge arena to see the two historic Ivy League schools tangle for the 64th time since 1875.

Thousands of Crimson followers will be on hand to see their boys in action. A special 10-car pullman train leaves South Station tomorrow morning at 8:35 with every bit of available space taken, and crowds more are driving down. A ticket to the fracas is almost as hard to find as World Series tickets were last year in Boston. All the seats were sold out in the middle of the week.

A last minute change in the Harvard lineup sees Armando "Stretch" Mazzone, star on the 1945 Everett team which won the state championship, as a possible starter at right end. Both he and Red Hill are alternate at the position. If Harvard receives, Mazzone will probbaly get the nod. If Harvard kicks, Hill looms as the starter.

John Gorozynski, a transfer from the University of Pittsburgh and also St. Louis University, will be holding down the right tackle berth with Capt. Jim Feinberg at right guard and Chuck Glynn at the pivot spot.

The whole left side of the line is the seame as that which lined up opposite the Elis in the Stadium last fall. Wally Flynn is at the flank, Howard Houston at tackle, and Emil Drvaric at guard.

In the backfield Chip Gannon, who is slated to call the plays for the Crimson tomorrow, is the only starter who was in the lineup last season. Filling out the first quartet are Hal Moffie, flashy scatback from Brookline, quarterback Jim Kenary, the team's passing artist, and speedy Paul Lazzaro at fullback.

The game marks the second successive year that Vince Moravec has been unable to play because of injuries. The Harvard captain, who is still unable to walk without the assistance of a cane, will limp onto the field tomorrow for the coin toss, and then sit out the rest of the tussle on the bench. He was sidelined last fall in the final game but Dick Harlow put him in for one play so that he could win a major H.

Late reports from New Haven are that Yale's two injured backfield operatives, Ferd Nadherny and Vandy Kirk, will be ready for action. Nadherny, the Blue's leading ground gainer, has been working out lightly all week in hopes of being at full strength tomorrow for the all-important contest.

Coast, Big Six Titles At Stake on Gridiron

By BILL GRIMES

Like poor Uncle Henry, the 1947 collegiate football season is petering out. Michigan took over the Big Nine title from Illinois, Penn won the Ivy League ranking berth, Princeton topped Harvard and Yale in the "Big Three," Wesleyan was successful in its defense of the "Little Three" crown, the Black Bears won in the Pine Tree State, Middlebury captured the Vermont garland, the Yankee Conference went to undefeated and untied New Hampshire.

Tech is the class of the Southeastern Conference, Rutgers showed its heel to Lafayette and Lehigh in the Middle Three, Utah breezed through the "Big Seven" and the members of the Southwestern Conference haven't been able to rope and throw the Mustangs of Southern Methodist.

On the morrow, the Pacific Coast and Big Six titles will be definitely at stake.

Southern Cal, which hasn't dropped a conference game, will take on the once beaten U.C.L.A. at Los Angeles. And, in the event that the Uclans take the Trojans and the Golden Bears of California keep Stanford in the defeat column, the race for the Pacific Coast championship will wind up in a three way tie.

The Trojans will enter tomorrow's contest with a conference record of five victories and no defeats, while U.C.L.A. and California each have met with one reverse. Southern Cal tripped the Golden Bears, who came back the following week and knocked off the Uclans.

The fight for the Big Six crown went right down to the wire. At mid-season, Oklahoma and Kansas battled to a 13-13 draw but both have won their other three league games. And, now the stage is so set for the final games that the Sooners, Jayhawkers, the Nebraska Huskies and the Missouri Tigers all could finish with three wins and one defeat tomorrow for Oklahoma will play Nebraska and Kansas will oppose Missouri.

Although they have been in the football business for 57 years, the Colgate Red Raiders, who take on Boston University tomorrow afternoon at Fenway Park, have never displayed the gridiron ware in the Hub of the Universe.

For more than two decades, the Red Raiders have stressed wide open crowd appealing football. They are one of the best attractions in the East and judging from the advance sale, they'll draw the largest crowd Boston University has played to at Fenway Park this fall.

The BU-Colgate game will inaugurate "Schoolboy Day," which Head Coach "Buff" Donelli introduced and developed while he was at Duquesne University. The response to the invitations has been tremendous. Dr. John M. Harmon, BU athletic director, predicts that there will be more than 4000 football players representing 88 prep and high schools and 30 school bands at the game.

Out at Braves Field, the Boston College Eagles shouldn't have any trouble chalking up a victory over the St. Mary's. Coach Denny Myers is pointing for next week's tilt with Holy Cross and so he will not take any more chances than are absolutely necessary with his keymen tomorrow.

Leahy Picks B. C., Colgate, Yale, 'Bama

By FRANK LEAHY
Head Coach, Notre Dame University

Southern California's battle with UCLA tomorrow turns the football spotlight squarely on a Bob Hope-less Los Angeles. Bob is in England for a command performance. His show for royalty will have to be great if it tops the Trojan and Bruin four-act gridiron drama.

If Coach Jeff Cravath's Trojans emerge victorious, they get a one-way ticket to the Rose Bowl and Michigan. If Coach Bert LaBrucherie's Bruins win, then the Rose Bowl spot becomes a scramble between Southern Cal, UCLA adn California since the Golden Bears beat the Bruins earlier in the season.

Four major teams now remain undefeated and untied. They are Michigan, Penn State, Southern Methodist and my own lads at Notre Dame.

MICHIGAN - OHIO STATE — The Buckeyes have won only two games and tied one in eight starts. The mighty Wolverines should add to the debit side this Saturday.

PENN STATE-PITTSBURGH—The Panthers have tasted victory only once in seven games and their chances for making a meal of the Nittany Lions are slim, indeed.

SOUTHERN METHODIST-BAYLOR—Matty Bell's Mustangs have raced through eight foes. Baylor barely got by Tulsa last week. We don't think they'll get by against S. M. U.

TULANE - NOTRE DAME — Since we never pick for or against our lads, we'll put down a tie just for the record.

ALABAMA-LOUISIANA STATE—Fresh from their victory over Georgia Tech, the Crimson Tide should surge on toward the Sugar Bowl.

YALE-HARVARD—When traditional fellows get together it makes for risky prediction. We believe, however, that Howie Odell's lads will outlast the Crimson.

MINNESOTA - WISCONSIN—Another difficult one to pick. But, despite the Gophers' loss to an inspired Iowa eleven, we think they'll take the Badgers.

GEORGIA TECH-FURMAN—Bobby Dodd's lads should come roaring back.

GEORGETOWN - GEORGE WASHINGTON—Coach Jack Hagerty's Hoyas appear too strong for the Colonials.

ILLINOIS - NORTHWESTERN—Bob Voight's Wildcats gave us a real scare last Saturday and Bob deserves lots of credit for the manner in which he brought his team up. But Illinois seems too strong.

FLORIDA-MIAMI — A real scrap under the orange blossoms. But Bobby Forbes and his fellow Gators should win.

Other selections: Boston College over St. Mary's; California over Stanford; Cincinnati over Butler; Clemson over Auburn; Colgate over Boston University; Columbia over Syracuse; Georgia over Chattanooga; Holy Cross over Fordham; Missouri over Kansas; North Carolina over Virginia (a tough one); Oklahoma over Nebraska; Purdue over Indiana; Rice over TCU; Vanderbilt over Maryland; Wake Forest over Duquesne.

Yanks Demand Probe of Browns Trades

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 21 (AP)—The mighty New York Yankees have added their voice to the cry of alarm emanating from several baseball quarters over the St. Louis Browns' startling trading activities.

Yankee President Daniel R. Topping, claiming he doesn't want "to see the American League become a seven-club league," yesterday asked for a "complete investigation" of the Browns' player trades.

The Browns, who finished eighth in 1947, have already transferred six of their best players to the Boston Red Sox and the Cleveland Indians in exchange for players of unknown quality and an unannounced amount of cash.

Topping's statement said the Yanks will request that, through Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler and League President William Harridge, "a complete investigation of the situation be made."

William O. Dewitt, vice-president and general manager of the Browns, declined comment on the Yankees' protest. He said the answer would have to come from President Richard Muckermann of the Browns, who is out of the city.

Chandler and Harridge also declined comment for the time being.

The Browns' latest deal, their third in a week, sent pitcher Bob Muncrief and first baseman Walt Judnich, both regulars, to the Cleveland Indians. In return they got outfielder Joe Frazier, a player still to be named and an indicated $25,000 or more in cash.

Previously St. Louis traded shortstop Vern Stephens, pitchers Jack Kramer and Ellis Kinder and reserve infielder Billy Hitchcock to the Boston Red Sox.

Luke Sewell, former Brownie manager, said at his home in Mobile, Ala., the wholesale deals were "revising the club downward." He declared St. Louis would do better "to get some new blood in the front office."

Sewell quit the Browns in 1946 after a disagreement with the management.

Glen L. Wallar, St. Louis Globe-Democrat sports writer who reports American League games, however, defended the right of the club to make trades.

He said, in a Globe-Democrat story, the Yankees' protest was "ridiculous" and pointed out it was nothing new for a team to break up its roster.

SP Duty Gave Bernsten Chance to Become Heavy

By JACK CONWAY, JR.

"Duty with the Norwegian Navy and a few months with the Shore Patrol in New York City seems to be one of the best ways of getting started in the fight business," stated Harry Bernsten, Norwegian heavyweight, following a workout at Kelley and Hayes gym. Bernsten will fight Jimmy Lake, Canadian Air Force champion, tonight at Mechanics Building. The fight is under the direction of the Dempsey A. A.

"I enlisted in the Norwegian Navy early in the war," said the blonde haired, 24-year-old Bernsten. "I had a touch of malaria when in the Mediterranean then we moved to the Pacific.

"On one particular ship—an oil tanker—I was acting as a gunners mate on a four-incher and we were heading towards India from Australia. Just off the coast of Java a Jap patrol boat sighted us and sank us before we had a chance to get out of the way. Myself and four other fellows managed to get into a life-boat. We drifted and rowed for 21 days before being picked up by a British destroyer off India.

"I needed a rest. This is when I was lucky enough to be sent to New York city and placed in the Navy Shore Patrol."

Bernsten went on to relate how he entered a tavern while making his S. P. rounds. Rudy Zaro, a tavern keeper in Brooklyn, spotted Bernsten and thought that the 6 feet, 2-inch, 206 pounder might make a good fighter.

Zarro became Harry's manager and entered him in the Golden Gloves, which he won, and the New York AAU tournament, which he also won. Five amateur fights and five knockout wins. There was a great shortage of heavyweights around New York then—in 1946—so Harry turned pro.

He won his first fight, against fighter named Kinsey, by a four round knockout. Then Bernsten went on to win 11 straight, all by knockouts. His 13th was a 10 decision win over Harry Cooper. The complete American fight record compiled by Bernsten is 27 fights, 23 wins, 17 knockouts.

One of the four fights he lost was a recent split decision to Jimmy Lake, the same boy he fights tonight. Two of the defeats were TKO's, the fights being stopped when Bernsten's left eye was opened in his most recent fight. Harry was knocked out in the second round by Arcenaga, New York fighter of Spanish origin.

The Norwegian Consul in Boston will be at ring side tonight. The consul tells us that there will be delegations from Norwegian ships now tied up at Boston docks . . . Harry is married and has one little girl . . . Her name is Dianna Lynn Bernsten . . . Mrs. Bernsten is a Danish girl that Harry met while in New York city . . . He is now living in Katonka, Westchester County, N. Y. . . . Jimmy Lake is 23 years old, is 6 ft. tall, and weighs 147 . . . Lake lost a split decision to Dave Gosney in his latest outing.

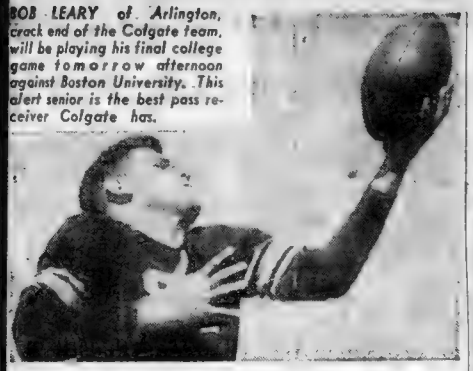
114 CANAL ST., BOSTON---CAP. 0710 0455



BOB LEARY of Arlington, crack end of the Colgate team, will be playing his final college game tomorrow afternoon against Boston University. This alert senior is the best pass receiver Colgate has.

Terriers Appear Up for Dangerous Colgate Team

In what promises to be their best game of the season, Boston University's Terriers will tangle with Colgate's "Red Raiders" at Fenway Park tomorrow amidst an unprecedented high school band jamboree. Kickoff time for the game is 2 p. m., but the festivities will get under way at 1 p. m. when the musical pageant begins.

Coach "Buff" Donelli's charges are in high spirits for the tilt, and the boys are determined to give their popular mentor a final 1947 win. Though they will enter the contest as slight underdogs, the Terriers boast the better record of the two teams. They are confident that they can upset the pregame predictions.

There are several factors which could lead to a BU upset. First and foremost is the potential power of Capt. Don Giles who will be playing his final game in the Scarlet and White spangles. Don has been hampered by minor injuries most of the season, and has not been up to his '46 form.

If he should suddenly break loose, the Terriers will have someone to offset Colgate's powerful Frank Muelheuser. Several pro teams have been scouting Giles, and from his work in recent practice sessions, it appears as though he has finally found himself.

Another factor which must be considered is the poor showing made by many of the boys earlier in the season. Several are attempting to redeem themselves for their sloppy play against Purdue and William & Mary in the hopes that Coach "Buff" Donelli will welcome them back to the fold next season.

One of the five Colgate players making his final appearance for the Raiders will be Robert Leary, an Arlington product. Leary, who operates at either right or left end will be having somewhat of a homecoming in his final game. The leading Raider pass receiver belted a baseball over the left field wall in Fenway Park while playing baseball for Arlington High School back in 1942. Bob will start at left end for the visitors.

Coach Paul Bixler has spent most of his time on offense in readying his squad for its initial Boston appearance. He has stressed this especially in the backfield, in an attempt to spark up his "T" and single wing attack which has been statistically successful but very deficient in scores this fall.

The regular backfield of Ted McLoughlin, Howard Baird, Capt. Glen Treichler and Frank Muelhouser will start, but Bixler has indicated that they will either score early or be replaced by the reserves.

Celtics Introduce Two New Men Against Bullets

Two new men will be in Celtics uniform tonight when the Celtics resume their play at the Garden against the newest BBAA entry, the Baltimore Bullets.

George Munroe and big Jack Hewson, the newcomers, are both experienced hands and have just about what the Russellmen need to get them off on a winning streak. Hewson made his debut with the team in Philadelphia last night where the Celtics turned back the Warriors, 67-57. He is a husky 6-6 pivot on the rugged side.

At Temple University, Jack played tackle and was heavyweight boxing champ. He later fought in the New York Golden Gloves. His one previous appearance in the Hub lineup was at Worcester when the locals defeated the Providence Steamrollers. On that occasion he handled both backboards for the Celtics in a brilliant manner.

Both Munroe and Hewson are currently doing post-graduate work at Harvard and Temple, respectively. Munroe is studying law, while Hewson has one more semester of dentistry. They will take over the positions left vacant by the departure of Kevin Connors and Johnny Janisch.

The Baltimore team sprung the surprise of the early season when they walked into Chicago last week and turned back the highly regarded Stags.

Dazzling Herman Wedemeyer Set to Touch Off Spark Against Boston College Team

The St. Mary's eleven which faces Boston College at Braves Field tomorrow as scheduled to hold its second practice drill at the Wigwam this afternoon. Coached by Jim Phelan, the Galloping Gaels have several versatile players on their 33-man squad.

Jim Squirmin' Herman Wedemeyer, 173-pound triple-threat senior from Honolulu, the West Coast seven has one of the most highly publicized players in the nation. A dark, handsome lad with jet black hair and flashing teeth, "Wedey," as he is called by his teammates, was an all-American choice as a sophomore.

Quarterback Denis O'Connor, 168-pound senior from Berkeley, Cal., is an accomplished singer. Nicknamed "The Tie" because of his penchant for bow ties, O'Connor sang with Stan Kenton's orchestra.

An affable fellow, O'Connor serenaded the Malloy twins, Margaret and Katherine, who lived on Lorenzo st., Dorchester, on the plane journey from Oakland to Boston. The twins served as hostesses on the TWA plane which made the coast to coast trip. Army veteran who saw service in the Air Corps and Field Artillery, O'Connor hopes to go into radio work when he graduates.

St. Mary's always had a good reputation for turning out good baseball players. In Bill Van Heuit, 19-year-old sophomore from Berkeley, it has a stellar outfielder.

Van Heuit played in the Hearst National Sandlot baseball tournament at New York City last year. A keen ball hawk with a powerful throwing arm, Van Heuit was rated as one of the best schoolboy baseball prospects around the San Francisco-Oakland Bay area.

Also a powerful hitter, there's a possibility that Braves officials will be more interested in his baseball ability than in his ball carrying prowess.

"How's Normie Roy," asked Van Heuit when he talked with local scribes. Roy a standout schoolboy hurler while at Waltham High, had signed with the Braves, he was told. "He's a good player," commented Van Heuit. "He played with me in the Sandlot Tournament and he really looked like he could make the grade with the big leaguers."

Two thirds of the Speaker-Hooper-Lewis outfield, greatest combination assembled in this city, were graduates from St. Mary's. Hooper and Lewis are St. Mary's alumni. Other big leaguers who went to the West Coast college include Lefty Earl Johnson, now a Red Sox relief hurler, Emmett O'Neil and Harry Krause.

"We're very much underpowered," said Coach Phelan. "This is an "off" season for us," he continued, "Look how small our players are," said he as he pointed to the Gaels going through a light passing and signal drill.

Don Panciera? "Saw him out on the Coast and he looked very good," said Phelan. "We should be seeing a lot of him next game. We close our season against San Francisco next week."

Turning to Maurice "Clipper" Smith, coach of the Yanks and a teammate of his at Notre Dame, Phelan began to enumerate Panciera's skills in handling the ball from the T.

B. C. will work out in a final tuneup at Alumni Field today . . . "I'm turning pro right after the season closes," said Wedemeyer. "I'll go to the team that gets me in the draft but I hope it's the San Francisco Forty-Niners" . . . The "Honolulu Lulu" as he is tabbed by West Coast scribes plans to play pro for "two or three years."

Iowa Votes to Retain Grid Coach Anderson

IOWA CITY, Ia., Nov. 21 (INS)—Peace reigned on the University of Iowa campus today after the athletic board of control voted unanimously to retain Dr. Eddie Anderson as head football coach.

The board reached its decision after four and a half hours of continuous session last night.

Anderson turned in his resignation at midnight last Friday because he said there was "loose talk" and criticism around Iowa about his coaching methods.

The Hawkeyes wound up their Western Conference gridiron schedule last Saturday with a surprising 13 to 7 upset victory over Minnesota for a season's record of three victories, five defeats and a tie.

Duck Hunting Bag Low; Few Get Limit of Four

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

The Bay State duck hunting season is still very young, but the bag to date has been rather lean, optimistic reports to the contrary. Limit kills have been in the minority, with most nimrods happy to down one or two of the feathered targets.

On the whole, however, the sport has shown a slight improvement over that of last autumn, for far more black ducks are in evidence, plus a spicy scattering of redlegs and pintails.

Opening afternoon in the vicinity of the Parker River Wildlife Refuge, at Plum Island, was said to be satisfactory, but the barrage-like booming of shotguns since then has frightened away many of the birds.

One Boston sportsman called to tell us he shot three savory specimens—all blacks—near Orleans using the wooden duck calling instrument for the first time. He is a pupil of Warren Raymond, a master of the art, famed for his exhibitions at various Sportsmen's Shows.

Several irate gunners have asked us to remind other hunters that shooting hours run from sunrise until one hour BEFORE sunset. Seems that quite a few of the boys—who should no better—have been squeezing their triggers during the forbidden 60 minutes.

Salem Offers Novel School Football Game

Schoolboy football will offer little in the way of a Thanksgiving Day appetizer tomorrow afternoon with only a dozen or so teams running through tuneups—and that list includes an international game between Salem High School's Witches and St. Elizabeth of Halifax, N. S., at Bertram Field, Salem.

The best of the program—and it's none too good—will be the meeting between Brockton and Somerville in the Shoe City.

Salem's contest with the St. Elizabeth School will be the department of utter confusion, if the game follows the same pattern as one played in Malden's Pearl St. Stadium a year ago. It will find the two teams playing under Canadian rules for the first half; then shifting to the regulation grid game for the second half. The opener will be a pair of 15-minute periods, 12 players to each team, the last half, two 12-minute quarters.

For the first 30 minutes, the game will be scored by "try's" and "rouge's." The second half will be touchdowns and conversions. There'll be left outside wings; centerbacks; flying wings, etc., for a starter before the exhibition whittles down to ends, fullbacks and halfbacks as the fans are accustomed to see.

In the Shoe City, there could be a whale of a game—or, on the other hand, a mediocre Class A battle.

Somerville looked like a potential leader against Malden three weeks ago, winning by a 14-12 margin. Last Sunday against Lynn English, Coach Tom Lynch's boys had nothing on the ball. They couldn't shake, Hugo Vigoroso loose; they couldn't tackle; Frank Simas' reputation as back fell a dozen points. It just wasn't the same team.

However, if Somerville can swing to a creditable game on alternate weekends, the fans may see plenty of football. Brockton has come back in leaps and bounds after a weak start so that now Coach Frank Saba has moulded a club that can move the ball.

Both teams have floundered. Both will have some opportunity to regain lost prestige in the only Class A test on the card.

unnoticed by the patrons, but he is perhaps one of the top outriders in the profession. Time after time horses have thrown their boys at the gate and galloped free but Schreiner always gets them. He hasn't missed one yet.

A. C. Dyleski, well known trainer from Lawrence, who has saddled seven winners at the current meeting, will ship Tidy Moon, Daffydine, Furrdauber and Vartime to his Deerfield, New Hampshire farm, where they will be turned out for the winter. In the latter part of February he will ship to Bowie to get ready for the spring meet there.

Baron Von Cramm Whips Swedish Champ

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 21 (AP)—Baron Gottfried Von Cramm, one time German Davis Cup star, still knows how to wield an effective tennis racquet. The 38-year-old net artist defeated Swedish Champion Lennart Bergelin, 6-1, 7-5, 0-6, 6-3 in a charity match at the Royal Tennis Hall here yesterday.

Skiing This Week-End

Best bets for early skiers this week-end include the following spots: Franconia, N. H., where the Cannon Mt. open slope offers good running; Pinkham Notch, N. H., open slopes reported good; Crawford Notch, N. H., with good cover on the golf course . . . Temple Mountain, near Peterborough, N. H., is a possibility; and both Andover or Rangeley, Me., should have sufficient snow for Christies and capers. —"TAP"
